FIVE-DAY WEEK GETS FOOTHOLD IN GOVERNMENT

Labor Department and Aeronautics Group Adopt Plan.

A. F. OF L. MAKES PLEA FOR SHORTER HOURS

Thousand Federal Workers Here Are Affected by New Schedule.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The five-day week yesterday made an opening wedge in the Federal service, one Government department and one small independent establishment adopting the plan.

The Labor Department went on a straight five-day week basis. The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics instituted a five-day week for 30 weeks, allowing accumulated leave the remainder of the year.

Meantime the American Federation of Labor in its monthly survey appealed for "active Government support behind a program to shorten hours." A 25-hour working week universally applied would absorb all existing unemployment, the federation stated.

Commerce Stands Pat.

Concurrent studies of the five-day week in industry got under way at Commerce and Labor Departments, on order of President Hoover, but Commerce officials reiterated their intention of continuing on a five and one-half day week basis.

Yesterday's decision of Secretary of Labor Doak came in the face of widespread rejection of the five-day week by department heads who held it unfeasible. Some still are debating the matter. The Department of Agriculture has announced no decision one way or the other. The Civil Service Commission has the plan under consideration.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor immediately expressed hope that other department chiefs soon will follow Secretary Doak's lead.

"The Labor Department is the logical place to start the change," he said. "I hope it has been established in such a way as to benefit all."

Number of Workers Affected.

Heretofore the plan has been applied only to certain classes of Federal per diem workers, to the Government Printing Office staff and to the Navy Department field service.

The Department of Labor order affects immediately 958 departmental workers employed in Washington. Nearly 5,000 more are employed in the field, where the plan will be invoked "so far as practicable." It may not affect field workers in some agencies, such as immigration. The national advisory committee order applies only to 43 employes here and 275 stationed at Langley Field.

The Labor five-day week plan will go into effect this week-end, giving employes Saturdays and Sundays holiday every week for 48 weeks.

Whether these workers will be given any additional payless leave depends largely on what Secretary Doak decides to do with the "administrative" furlough, voted by Congress to keep departments within appropriations.

Secretary Doak Explains.

It was because the national advisory committee on aeronautics will not have to invoke "administrative" leaves that the five-day week was not instituted for a full year in that unit.

15 Are Feared Dead In Railroad Wreck

40 Cars Plunge Off Rails Rounding Curve Near Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, July 25 (A.P.).—All available wrecking crews and equipment were at work tonight searching the wreckage of 40 Big Four Railroad freight cars, believed to contain the bodies of between ten and fifteen train riders. The wreck at 4:55 p. m. 8 miles west of Bellefontaine.

William Boyer, of Newark, Ohio, and Conductor R. E. Wells, of Indianapolis, were brought to a local hospital suffering from severe injuries. While there was no definite check on the number of train riders, crew members said that a group of between ten and twenty men boarded the freight at a bridge about a half mile west of Bellefontaine.

The freight, made up of 100 cars of merchandise, was rounding a curve at a mile-a-minute clip when one of the cars left the rails. Forty cars from the middle of the train followed suit, tearing up 1,500 feet of double trackage and forcing rerouting of all traffic until probably tomorrow at noon.

Irish Counter Tariff Put on British Goods

Canada Gives Her List of 8,000 Imports For Bargaining.

Ottawa, July 25 (A.P.).—The British imperial economic conference got down to brass tacks today when Canada laid before the other delegations her celebrated list of 8,000 import commodities which are expected to serve as basis for her bargaining with the other powers of the empire.

The list has been accepted as the key to important trade agreements likely to be drawn up between Canada and the United Kingdom to the possible detriment of the United States and other nonempire nations that trade with the dominion.

One of the items on it is anthracite coal. This means that Canada is willing to increase its empire impor-

Arbitration May Reopen As Official Leaves For London.

Dublin, Irish Free State, July 25 (A.P.).—Almost prohibitive duties on British products were levied by the Irish Free State tonight, and simultaneously there was a development which aroused speculation as to whether negotiations to solve Anglo-Irish differences might be reopened.

The development was the departure late tonight of Hugo Flynn, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of finance, for London. All the government would say was that he was on an important government mission.

The duties were levied with publication of a list of articles embraced in a special tariff bill passed by the Dail Eireann last week in retaliation against a 20 per cent tariff imposed

PLEA FAILS TO CURB VON PAPEN'S POWER

Court's Refusal to Oust Prussian Government Is Victory for Chancellor.

Berlin, July 25 (U.P.).—Chancellor Franz von Papen's iron-fisted government won a smashing legal victory today when the supreme court upheld the forcible ousting of the Prussian government.

As a result, there was believed to be no force capable of loosening the cabinet's dictatorial grip on Prussia and, it was understood, President Paul von Hindenburg had consented to termination of the military state of emergency in Berlin and Brandenburg on Tuesday.

Col. von Papen, in his capacity as commissioner of Prussia, tonight lifted a two-year-old regulation which had prevented members of Adolph Hitler's Fascist party from holding office in Prussia.

The regulation, promulgated by the ousted Socialist government, prohibited "members of parties inimical to the state" from participating in the government. The Fascists now have access to many jobs from which Socialists were ousted, while hundreds of job-holders who already secretly are Hitlerites are expected to announce their membership.

The decision of the Leipzig Supreme Court was merely provisional as far as the government's action in establishing dictatorial government in Prussia is concerned. The ousted Prussian Government had made application for an injunction to restrain the new Reich's commissioner, Col. von Papen, from exercising his duties in Prussia. The court refused this application.

At a further hearing in August, the court will decide on the constitutionality of the government's action in taking control of Prussia, which was done on the grounds that chaos among political parties of the state was fostering communism, rioting and killings.

A government spokesman told the United Press that the Leipzig verdict was expected to lead to complete pacification of political unrest, particularly in southern Germany, where the States had protested against the Reich's interference with their rights. The cabinet was understood to consider the verdict as assuring the political status quo in Prussia and averting danger of a serious conflict as soon as the modified martial law now existing in Berlin is lifted.

PEACE IS REPORTED AGREED TO IN BRAZIL

Both Armies Observe Truce Honoring Santos-Dumont; 120 Reported Slain.

Rio de Janeiro, July 25 (A.P.).—Reports were current in the Capital today that Provisional President Getulio Vargas and a mediator for the Rio Grande section of the southern rebels had agreed to terms of peace.

The report was inspired by the sudden departure by plane from the capital of Joao Neves, a former envoy of Rio Grandes "Frente Unica" (united front), a rebel group allied with the Sao Paulo rebels. Neves was believed en route to Sao Paulo to advise main rebel headquarters there of the plan.

The agreement was supposed to have been reached in negotiations between the president and Mauricio Cardoso, former Vargas cabinet minister, and the new Rio Grande Frente Unica envoy.

Meanwhile, the state government at Porto Alegre announced that Loyalist troops had stamped out a separate revolt at Vaccaria and nearby towns in Rio Grande after a five-days' fight.

Later Porto Alegre dispatches said that the rebels agreed to surrender on certain conditions, including immunity, and that the conditions were accepted by Gen. Flores da Cunha, federal interventor for Rio Grande.

Meanwhile warfare was suspended today by both armies in homage to Alberto Santos-Dumont, the South American "father of aviation," who died in Sao Paulo.

Gen. Goes Monteiro, chief of the federal forces, ordered his planes to cease their bombing activities and drop a proclamation in Sao Paulo hailing the Brazilian air pioneer but lamenting that he adhered to "the regional separatist Paulista politicians."

Von Gronau Completes Third Flight to America

Cartwright, Labrador, July 25 (A.P.).—The German aerial trail blazer, Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, today completed his third flight from Germany to America by the Arctic route, when he brought his flying boat down in Independence Harbor at 5:45 p. m. (Eastern standard time).

Capt. Von Gronau had taken off from Ivigtut Harbor, Greenland, at 9:25 a. m., completing the 600-mile water jump in 8 hours and 20 minutes. It was understood he planned to continue on to Montreal, another thousand miles, tomorrow.

$650,000,000 in U. S. Notes Are Oversubscribed in Day

Government Will Use $412,369,000 for Relief and Other Financial Needs; Croxton Is Made Assistant to R. F. C.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mills announced last night that the offering of $650,000,000 in Treasury notes placed on sale yesterday morning was oversubscribed at the close of business yesterday afternoon.

The Government will use $412,369,000 to meet relief and other financial needs. The remaining $227,631,000 will be used to pay indebtedness. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will administer the relief funds.

The notes were in two series, both dated and bearing interest from August 1. One was for $350,000,000, to run two years and bear 2½ per cent interest; the second was for the same amount, to run four years and bear 3¼ per cent interest.

The prompt oversubscription was taken as an indication of the eagerness of banks with large reserves to make safe investments.

Subscriptions mailed before midnight last night, Mills said, would be considered as having been entered before the close of the books. Announcement of the amount of subscriptions and the allotment will be made Thursday.

President Hoover turned his attention yesterday to ways and means of distributing to States the $300,000,000 direct relief fund made available under the $2,122,000,000 relief act.

The Chief Executive held a protracted conference with Gardner Cowles, sr., recently appointed director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which will lend the millions to relieve suffering. The Des Moines, Iowa, publisher said the method of distribution was discussed at length.

Just before Cowles left the White House announcement was made that Fred C. Croxton, assistant director of the President's unemployment committee, had been made an as-

NEW PARLEYS ON NAVY ARMS DUE IN AUGUST

Series of Conferences Is Expected to Begin in London or Geneva.

PARIS-ROME ACCORD TO BE ONE OF AIMS

Gibson Is Understood to Be Ready to Head American Delegation.

Paris, July 25 (U.P.).—A new and wider accord on limitation of the world's naval fighting forces tonight became the next goal in international negotiations toward disarmament.

Following an apparently unfounded report in London that Italy is secretly building new warships, it was learned that a series of informal conferences on naval armaments is expected to begin in London or Geneva next month.

The United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy are expected to participate and some of the smaller powers may be represenetd.

Of Great Importance.

The importance of these conversations would be great in the present phase of disarmament negotiations. The chief objective presumably would be to gain the adherence of France and Italy to the London naval treaty, which America, Britain and Japan signed. The failure of the Paris and Rome governments to reach an accord on naval limitation has been one of the chief obstacles to disarmament in the last year.

Furthermore, the negotiations would be based on the disarmament conference resolution inviting naval powers "to confer and report as to further measures of naval reduction which might be possible as a part of the general program of disarmament." The conference would discuss in this connection the one-third slash proposed by President Hoover and other similar suggestions made at the Geneva conference.

Gibson to Hold Americans.

A third phase of the negotiations undoubtedly would involve the Japanese attitude. The Tokyo government recently has made clear that it desires an increase in its ratio of "3" as compared to the "5" of Britain and "5" of the United States under the London treaty.

It was understood that Hugh S. Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, would head the United States delegation. He has been instructed to undertake preliminary work. It also was believed in diplomatic quarters that Gibson would take an important part in efforts to reconcile the French and Italians.

'Secret Navy' Tale Denied by Italians

Rome Scoffs at Story of 14 Concealed Warships as "Ridiculous."

Rome, July 25 (A.P.).—Reports published in London today that Italy is building a "secret navy" were characterized as ridiculous by Italian naval experts. In line with the one-year building holiday, proposed at Geneva by former Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, the construction of 14 naval vessels has been suspended, it was explained.

A spokesman said that the 14 "secret navy" warships mentioned by the author of the article which appeared in London were two cruisers of 6,742 tons, two destroyers of 615 tons, four tankers and six tugs. Contracts have been awarded for the two cruisers and orders were placed at Naples for the two destroyers, but before their keels were laid the work was suspended, the spokesman asserted.

Ramseyer Will Direct G.O.P. Speakers' Unit

Chicago, July 25 (A.P.).—Appointment of Representative C. William Ramseyer, of Iowa, as director of the speakers' bureau for the presidential campaign was announced today by Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee.

The speakers' bureau will be established August 1, Sanders said and Mr. Ramseyer will spend the intervening time at his home in Bloomfield, Iowa. Mr. Ramseyer has served in Congress from the Sixth Iowa District for nine consecutive terms.

Throne and Gems Found In Ancient Indian Ruins

San Salvador, July 25 (A.P.).—A funeral vault containing the body of a man of high rank and a throne made of orange wood beautifully engraved were found today in the department of Peten by an archeological expedition.

Priceless jewels and a handball court were also discovered by the party which is digging into ancient Indian ruins.

PROMPT START OF 4-LINE RAIL MERGER LOOMS

Hoover Receives Aishton, Railway Association's Head, and Willard.

CARRIERS' APPROVAL PLEASES PRESIDENT

I. C. C.'s Ruling Against Pennsylvania Holdings Biggest Obstacle.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

An early beginning of the gigantic four-system merger of the Eastern railroads, along the lines approved last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was promised here yesterday as officials of several of the roads involved prepared to announce acceptance of the modified merger scheme.

Although some of the changes made in the original four-system plan of the railroad presidents are objectionable to individual carriers on minor points, the general allocation of the secondary lines is acceptable to all of the four principal systems which have taken the lead in the consolidation effort.

President Hoover, who has followed the negotiations closely since the rail chiefs launched their consolidation project more than two years ago, was informed of the carriers' general approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision. He was reported to have expressed gratification over the fact that an effective approach to the twelve-year-old problem of consolidations appears at last to have been achieved.

Willard at White House.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio system, and one of the four rail executives who worked out the original consolidation plan, was a luncheon guest at the White House yesterday, and later in the afternoon President Hoover conferred with R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway Association.

Although the rail officials declined to reveal the points of their White House conferences, it was indicated that a group of railroad presidents will meet in New York this week to formulate their public answer to the I. C. C. decision.

Under the plan now before the railroad chiefs, the New York conference will conclude the preliminary phase of the consolidation scheme, and thereafter the work of actual merging will be carried out piece by piece as details are agreed upon between the individual roads. Since there are more than 300 lines

Poland and Russia Sign Peace Treaty

Roumania Also to Adhere to Nonaggression Agreement.

Warsaw, Poland, July 25 (A.P.).—Poland and Soviet Russia today signed a pact of nonaggression similar to that which this country already has arranged with various other governments. The Russo-Polish negotiations have been delayed somewhat by efforts to arrange a similar pact between Soviet Russia and Roumania. This evening Roumania announced that she would adhere to the pact.

It was pointed out that Poland has officially assured Roumania that the pact will not be ratified until a similar treaty has been concluded between Russia and Roumania.

The agreement binds both parties to refrain from attacking each other, to withhold aid from any third state which attacks one of the signatories, and not to enter into any understanding which would be inimical to either. If one signatory should commit an act of aggression against another State, the other party to the agreement may renounce it.

Much Damage Wrought By Mexican Earthquake

Mexico City, July 25 (U.P.).—An earthquake shook the State of Colima and adjacent areas today, causing wide damage in some cities. The town of Tecoman was almost 50 per cent destroyed, a dispatch to the newspaper Universal said. The population of Colima City was panic-stricken and remained in the streets until long after daybreak. Casualties appeared to have been slight.

(Associated Press.)

The Georgetown Observatory yesterday reported its instruments showed earthquake shocks of considerable intensity about 2,200 miles southwest of Washington, probably in Mexico, beginning at 4:19:04 a. m. (Eastern standard time) and ending at about 5:30 a. m.

Pit Officials Accused Of Misleading Public

Chicago Board of Trade Will Attack Grain Futures Act.

Chicago, July 25 (A.P.).—A counter-attack on the validity of the grain futures act will be the board of trade's rejoinder to a 60-day padlock order.

Beneath the din of trading in the big grain pits of the world's largest cereal market today could be heard an undercurrent of excited speculation on the possibility of an actual holiday of futures trading.

The "business as usual" sign hung in the trading hall of the board's new skyscraper home today, for the Government suspension decree does not become effective until August 8.

And that sign, President Peter B. Carey indicated, will hang out until this year's crop is marketed—and perhaps another harvest, too. For the Cabinet Members Hold Operations Need Not Be Suspended.

Reassurance to business and a sharp retort to public statements by the president of the Chicago Board of Trade were combined in a formal statement yesterday by the Federal officials who ordered the grain market's 60-day suspension.

"The officers of the board of trade and their lawyers know quite well that in the end the operations of the board need not be suspended," said the three Cabinet officers who form the commission created by the grain futures act. They are Attorney General Mitchell and Secretaries Hyde of Agriculture and Lamont of Commerce. They added flatly:

BORAH HOPES U. S. WILL CALL PARLEY

Mellon's Plans to Return Are Linked to Possible Economic Session.

(Associated Press.)

Hope that the United States will take the initiative in calling a world economic conference was expressed yesterday by Senator Borah, of Idaho, as the administration kept its silence on his proposal.

This studied silence by the Government and the imminence of necessary new war debt negotiations at the close of the moratorium year in December were coupled by some observers as a basis for speculation.

In other words, the European nations are expected to make representations for debt revision when the December 15 payments become due, pointing out that the Lausanne agreement virtually canceling reparations leaves them less able to pay than when the moratorium was put into effect.

Borah's proposition to trade war debts for disarmament and reparations cancellation in the interests of world recovery is regarded at the Capital as the opening overture.

Apparently, the reflction to this bold offer of a world economic parley is being watched, particularly by those in command of the governments who would necessarily have to call any conference which would be held.

While Congress is adamant against debt cancellation or even revision, both national parties have declared for an international conference on monetary questions.

Borah yesterday asserted he regarded war debts and reparations essential elements of any international

Wreck of Chilean Plane Found by Army Officer

Santiago, Chile, July 25 (U.P.).—Discovery of the wreck of the airliner San Jose, which has been missing for nine days, was claimed today by Galvarino Green, former army officer, who has been searching in the Andes for the plane.

Green returned here today and informed the Panagra Co. that he ascended to 14,000 feet on La Paloma Peak and discovered the San Jose at the bottom of a gorge 3,000 feet below. One wing was sticking out of the snow, he said. This would seem to indicate none of the nine occupants of the plane escaped.

3 MEN ARE DROWNED BATHING AND FISHING

Two Residents of Washington and One of Baltimore Are Victims.

The Potomac River and its tributaries took a toll of three lives yesterday when two Washington men and a resident of Baltimore were drowned while bathing and fishing.

Despite the heroic efforts of two life guards of the Airport Swimming Pool, south end of Highway Bridge, a man identified as Lycen Robertson, 28, of 612 Third street northwest, was drowned as he swam off Gravely Point near the Mount Vernon Memorial highway.

The river at the mouth of Smiths Creek, near Grays Point Md., was being dragged last night for the body of Robert J. Ondoff, of Capitol Heights, Md. Ondoff disappeared from a fishing boat earlier in the day. Maryland police were also searching for the body of Raymond Crandall, of Baltimore. He was drowned while swimming in the C. & O. Canal at Widewater, Md., yesterday afternoon.

Robertson, swimming in a small lake at Gravelly Point, sank beneath the water only a few feet from shore. He had been bathing with several companions, who were unaware of his plight. An engineer of the R. F. & P. Railway, the tracks of which adjoin a portion of the point, saw Robertson struggling in the water and stopped his train.

He notified the man's friends, who were swimming some distance away. They called the fire rescue squad and police of the Harbor Precinct. More than a half hour's dragging of the lake proved futile.

Two life guards at the Airport Pool, attracted by the hundreds of persons who gathered at the scene, volunteered to aid in the search. They are twin brothers, Elmer and Ernest Kern, of 804 P street southwest.

The brothers dived repeatedly for several minutes and recovered the body, but efforts to revive Robertson failed.

Robertson, it was learned, was from Roanoke, Va. Until recently he was employed at the Call Carl Garage, friends said. He was described as an expert swimmer.

Ondoff, who lost his life near Grays Point, was an employe of the Sanitary Grocery Co. He was at the Maryland resort on a vacation trip

Doumer's Assassin Pleads For 'Political Reputation'

40-Minute Court Speech Contends He Is Victim of Plotters; Makes No Claim Against Death Penalty for His Act.

Paris, July 25 (U.P.).—Pale and slovenly after two months in prison, Paul Gorgouloff, assassin of President Paul Doumer, swayed back and forth in the prisoners' box in assizes court today as he voiced an impassioned plea to the French people:

"Kill me! Kill me! But let my idea live!"

The tall, sharp-eyed Russian, who faces the guillotine if convicted, brokenly told the court that he was not afraid to die, but that he would fight to the end to protect his reputation from international political machinations. He contended he was a true Russian, a foe of bolshevism, and shot Doumer only as a protest against the failure of France to fight the Communist regime.

Denying that he had ever been a Communist leader or had ordered 200 foes of Bolshevism executed, Gorgouloff shouted his protests in a high, squeaky voice which contrasted with his bulky frame looming grotesquely over the high rail of the prisoner's box.

"I am not fighting to save my life, for my life is finished," the prisoner told the crowded, hot court room. "I want to clear my name because I fought both monarchism and bolshevism. I am a democrat.

"It's a political plot. * * * It's a political plot!" That was the refrain running through his wild 40-minute speech, a speech which marked the climax in his career of political adventuring in half a dozen nations.

Mme. Gorgouloff sobbed when she saw the prisoner led to the box, but she was not permitted to speak to him. Later she and other witnesses were sent from the courtroom.

Only 100 hand-picked spectators were in the oak-timbered courtroom, but the crowd outside was so great that newspapermen had difficulty in gaining admittance. If found guilty, the sentence must carry death for Gorgouloff.

B. E. F. TO OFFER PLAN TO LEAVE U. S. BUILDINGS

Proposal Is Due Today; Nine Held in Effort to Picket White House.

ARMY GETS 24-HOUR OUSTER ORDER DELAY

Demolition Work Will Begin Tomorrow, Regardless, Heath Declares.

A plan for the orderly evacuation of veterans from Government buildings will be proposed to the Treasury Department today by attorneys and officials of the Bonus Expeditionary Forces, who late yesterday obtained a 24-hour postponement of the ouster order which was to become effective last midnight.

The extension of time on the eviction order climaxed a day fraught with excitement in the heart of the business section, caused by the radical wing of the army which engaged in sporadic fist fighting with police who thwarted an attempted picket of the White House.

At the end of the melee, which was witnessed by thousands of Government clerks, nine of the would-be picketers were jailed, including John Pace, of Detroit, the leader of the radicals, and his aid, Walter Eicker, of New York, both of whom were charged with inciting to riot.

A demonstration by the radical wing of the army is scheduled for 9 o'clock this morning in front of Police Court Building, where those arrested are to be arraigned today. Speakers at a meeting of the "Reds" at Market Space last night urged that all radical veterans attend the court session to protest the arrests.

Based on Condition of Help.

The plan of the bonus army to leave the billets in Pennsylvania avenue northwest and in different quarters of the Southwest section, is based on the condition that a "reasonable amount of time will be allowed," and that the Treasury Department will cooperate with the army in providing other billets.

The reasonable amount of time to vacate, which is to be suggested by the army headquarters, ranges from 5 to 30 days. Other plans are being considered by the Treasury Department, because Acting Secretary of the Treasury Jerry K. Heath said last night: "I doubt very much that there will be any further extensions of the order."

His plans are to have the areas ready tomorrow morning for contractors to begin clearing away the billets to make way for the Government building program. "We are preparing to proceed with the fulfillment of the contracts. The veterans were given temporary permission to use the quarters. The permission has expired and we expect them to leave. We want to put some men to work."

To Begin Work at Once.

Should the proposal of the bonus army be met with disfavor, the Treasury Department plans to have the contractors bring their men to the sites and begin the demolition work. It is understood that they will disturb as few of the men as possible, but no interference with the workmen will be permitted.

The time extension came as Herbert S. Ward, attorney for the veterans, was preparing to seek a temporary restraining order from Justice Oscar R. Luhring to forestall execution of the order. He had called the courthouse and was denied a request to file the petition after office hours. He was about to go to Justice Luh-

WORKERS TO FIGHT RAIL MERGER PLAN

22 Brotherhoods Hold That Vast Unemployment Would Be Result.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 25 (A.P.).—Railroad labor, with 500,000 members unemployed, is organizing battle lines to oppose the merger of Eastern railways into four systems.

David R. Robertson, hurrying from one conference of labor executives to another, took part of his luncheon time today to outline the position of the 22 railroad labor organizations, for which he is spokesman on the proposed four trunk systems recently authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"Labor will oppose the realignment with the same determination it has opposed them in the past, he said. Its new fight will center in hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission when the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickle Plate and Baltimore & Ohio petition for acquisition of the various roads assigned them under the approved plan of consolidation.

The statement of a railroad executive—Daniel Willard, of the B. & O.—that 80 per cent of the operating economies resulting from the proposed mergers would be made through reductions in numbers of employes, was cited by Robertson as the reason for labor's opposition.

"No railroad," he said, "should get control over another railroad unless it is in the public interest."

"We think it is not in the public interest to consolidate railroads, especially at this time, and throw hundreds of thousands of workers on the streets to be fed or given other types of employment by the public."

Robertson, president of the Railroad Labor Executives Association, declined to estimate the number of railroad workers who would be thrown out if the merger went through. He forecast, however, that if the four-sytem plan finally is adopted, other mergers will be made in the West. Southwest and New England and the total of railroad labor disposed of would run into six figures.

Parent-Teachers Act In Memphis Flour Row

Memphis, Tenn., July 25 (A.P.).—A sequel was written today to the Borah-Crump dispute over possible political influence in distribution of relief flour here when the Memphis Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations took full charge of the work.

No direct mention was made, however, of the heated exchange of words between the two members of Congress.

QUICK START SEEN FOR RAIL MERGER

involved in the four-system plan, these negotiations will necessarily extend over many months. As each segment of the task is perfected, the details will be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval.

The vigorous objection of the Pennsylvania Railroad to the I. C. C.'s ruling against Pennsylvania holdings in the two principal New England systems is the greatest difficulty still to be worked out, railroad officials declare. But there was no suggestion yesterday that this point could not be handled successfully in the New York conferences.

The Pennsylvania management apparently is prepared to resist ejection from New England, while both the B. & O. and the New York Central maintain direct connections in that territory, but railroad men point out that since the entire New England situation was left open in last week's decision that problem need not delay consolidations in the more important Eastern territory.

The tremendous economies offered in the consolidation scheme are the controlling factor in the railroad situation today and a great majority of the Eastern executives are said to be enlisted in the movement to get these vital savings actually on the ledgers as quickly as possible.

Railroad officials estimated yesterday that consummation of the consolidation plan would bring about savings of approximately $150,000,000 a year in the operating expenses of the Eastern roads alone. That is the prize which is now the real incentive to prompt action on the part of the rail chiefs.

with his wife and three children. No one saw him fall from the boat, and it is not known how long he had been missing.

Ondoff had been employed by the Sanitary Grocery Co. about two years. He came here from Pennsylvania and for some time had worked in the branch store at North Capitol and I streets.

A number of persons swimming with Crandall at Widewater dove several times in an effort to locate his body. Rescue squads from the District, Bethesda and Glen Echo, Md., were still dragging the waters at a late hour last night.

Police from Bethesda arrested Norman Grimmell, a taxi driver, of 127 Carroll street southeast, who was said to have witnessed Crandall's drowning. He refused to tell police what had happened and was taken to Rockville for questioning.

Cork, Irish Free State, July 25 (A.P.).—James Burke, of Charleville, insisted he could kiss the Blarney Stone without any one holding his legs as he hung head downward over the parapet, as so many pilgrims have done. He tried it, slipped, and fell 100 feet to his death at the foot of the ancient castle.

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, July 25 (A.P.) Highway automobile traffic was seriously crippled throughout Jugoslavia today by a motor fuel famine. The scarcity was ascribed chiefly to foreign exchange restrictions which make it difficult to import or pay for Roumanian or other foreign oil products.

CHICAGO AUCTIONS PROPERTY FOR TAX

300,000 Parcels for Sale; Association in Drive to Resist Payments.

Chicago, July 25 (A.P.).—For sale: 300,000 parcels of Cook County real estate because of delinquent 1930 taxes.

The gavel dropped today as sheriff's officers started auctioneering to carry out blanket court judgments against the properties.

Only one parcel is to be sold daily during the next month, County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough said, to comply with the court orders. But after the month, sales will go on full schedule.

The county possesses about 1,300,000 parcels of property—600,000 on the delinquent list. On 260,000 parcels objections and injunctions have been filed against the assessments.

Delinquencies in Cook County can not be traced alone to pinched finances, county authorities said. For example, there has been a taxpayers' strike.

The Association of Real Estate Taxpayers, contending large tax bills should be split if the personal property tax were enforced, put on a drive to resist tax payment.

On the eve of leaving for an European vacation, Mayor Anton J. Cermak today said he had obtained sufficient funds to give the payless teachers and city employes a pay day.

In conference with bankers, he said he obtained their promise to purchase city and school board tax anticipation warrants guaranteeing $2,500,000 for teachers' salaries and $1,900,000 for city employes. The bankers agreed to furnish the money on condition that the school board reduce its budget.

The $2,500,000 will provide two weeks pay for the teachers.

Wet Bill Is Passed By Indiana House

Measure Repeals Some of More Drastic Parts of Bone Dry Law.

Indianapolis, July 25 (A.P.).—A bill repealing some of the most drastic provisions of the Wright "bone dry" law, the State liquor enforcement act, wsa passed today by the Indiana House of Representatives. The vote was 58 to 38. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The Wright law authorizes the issuance of search warrants for liquor raids upon hearsay evidence. Personal knowledge is required under the bill passed today. The bill also legalizes the sale of medicinal whisky, forbidden by the Wright law, and it would make the definition of spirituous liquors correspond with the Federal definition.

Two Republicans joined with 56 Democrats in voting for the repeal bill. Those voting against repeal included 22 Republicans and 16 Democrats.

Bingham Indorses Waterways Plan

Route Will Greatly Benefit Wheat and Corn States, Senator Declares.

(Associated Press.)

Indorsement of the new St. Lawrence waterways treaty was given last night by Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, on the ground its benefits would aid the whole country.

Speaking over the radio, Mr. Bingham conceded the new ocean route would bring no advantage to New England nor to the present seaports, but he said: "It will be of enormous benefit to the wheat and corn growing States and what benefits them will eventually benefit the whole country."

"To the people of the upper Mississippi and Missouri Valleys, who raise grain and want to sell it to Europe," he said, "it is estimated that the opening of this waterway to ocean-going vessels will cause a reduction of about 6 cents a bushel in the cost of transportation."

Bolivia Not to Force Loans.

Buenos Aires, July 25 (A.P.).—The Bolivian Legation announced today that it had been officially advised from La Paz that the government did not intend to exact forcible loans or confiscate bank deposits. Such reports were called false rumors originating abroad.

ROOSEVELT IS URGED TO VISIT ALL OF U. S.

Democrats in Every Section Demand Presence; Garner Is G. O. P. Target.

New York, July 25 (A.P.).—An intensive stumping tour into even the most remote corners of the Nation is being urged on Gov. Roosevelt.

State leaders from coast to coast have flooded Democratic headquarters with demands that the party's standard bearer visit their particular sections. These are the men on whose shoulders the party chieftains have placed full responsibility for the campaign. All contend the New York Governor could win more votes by a long list of personal appearanes than in any other way.

Leaders in some States listed as doubtful have said the whole outcome of the ballot drive might hinge on whether Roosevelt came into their sections to speak.

Walker Case Pending.

While awaiting the opening of his own intensive vote-seeking, Roosevelt must dispose of the Walker case, and word came today from Albany that he was beginning to be irked by the New York Mayor's long delay in filing a reply to Samuel Seabury's charges.

A few hours later it was announced at City Hall that the Walker reply will be sent to the printer tomorrow and as soon as printed will be forwarded to Albany.

The Republicans' Eastern campaign will begin to take shape this week when Everett Sanders, national chairman, confers with W. Kingsland Macy, State chairman, about detailed plans.

Garner Is Ridiculed.

Meantime, Republican State headquarters directed the fire of its publicity on "the antics" of Speaker Garner, who is described as "entertaining the public with an exhibition of wild and woolly politics which has not been equaled in the past by any serious candidate for first or second place on any ticket."

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, directed a blast at both Democrats and Republicans when he told a meeting of Columbia University summer school students:

"The case for the Socialist party is the intellectual and moral bankruptcy of both old parties, their dominance by an owning class, their lack of a program.

"The Democratic motto, in a country with 12,000,000 unemployed, is 'Hee, Haw, We're Coming Back.'"

Herb Brown, Song Writer, Weds.

GEN. MALONE VISITS CAMP IN MARYLAND

Lauds National Guardsmen in Address to Group at Cascade.

Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., July 25.—Present-day National Guardsmen carry on the ideals of George Washington and the Colonial troops, Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commanding the Third Corps Area, told the 67 officers and 1,107 men of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, here today.

Gen. Malone addressed the regiment after an inspection of the camp and equipment. He paid compliment to the excellent attendance maintained at armory drill and camp by the men. He said that the National Guard is the first line of defense for the Nation and that by preparing themselves now in time of peace the guardsmen are also preparing to defend the Nation handed down to them by Washington and the Colonial troops. He said that the National Guard could be mobolized within three days after war is declared.

Gen. Malone was accompanied by Col. Frederick R. Brown, National Guard officer for the Third Corps Area, and Capt. O. A. Cobles, an aid. While he was at the camp a photograph taken of himself and aids at Dietrich Field, near Frederick, was delivered at 9:50 o'clock in the morning by airplane. The photograph was taken at 8:00 at the flying field, where the general inspected in the morning.

Gen. Malone was the guest at luncheon of Gen. Milton A. Reckord, commanding the Maryland National Guard. Col. J. John Markey, commanding the regiment, will command the brigade and Lieut Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock will command the regiment in a problem which will be worked out by the 58th Brigade Headquarters. The problem will concern engagement of the 58th Brigade with the retiring forces of the enemy west of Leitersburg. The salute of thirteen guns for Gen. Malone was fired by the Howitzer Company of Kensington, commanded by Capt. Clarence V. Sayer.

Regimental headquarters company, of Pocomoke City, which has won the kitchen banner for the last eight out of nine years, was awarded first place in kitchen cleanliness, and expects to win the banner again this year.

The troops passed most of the day on the rifle and pistol ranges and will go back to shooting tomorrow. The Howitzer company will go on the Howitzer range tomorrow for the first time during this camp. It was announced yesterday that governor's day and veterans' day will be held the same day this year so that Gov. Albert C. Ritchie will be at camp Sunday for veterans' day instead of later in the week, as had been planned originally.

5-DAY WEEK GETS FEDERAL FOOTHOLD

Secretary John P. Victory said last night.

The plan is for the committee to go on a five-day week from now until November, on a 5½-day week from November until April, and on a five-day week for the remainder of the year.

These 30 weeks will take up 15 of the employes' 24-day payless furlough, leaving 9 days that may be taken in a lump. Secretary Victory said he is convinced the plan will make for greater efficiency.

Secretary Doak said:

"Having in mind the appropriations made available for the present fiscal year, the nature of the work of the department and all other factors, the departmental staff after a most careful and painstaking survey reached the unanimous conclusion that the Department of Labor best could meet the reduction of the salaries of the employes required by Congress through decreasing the hours of service one additional one-half day each week."

The flow of rulings on the economy act continued yesterday from Comptroller General J. R. McCarl's office. One of three held that postmasters and other postoffice employes who draw their pay from fluctuating postal receipts must take an 8½ per cent salary cut regardless of how much the receipts have fallen off.

Mr. McCarl informed Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, that inequalities resulting from his decision against any paid leave after July 1 "can not be avoided without doing violence to established rules for the construction of statutes and to the canons of interpretation."

He advised the Attorney General that typists or stenographers hired by an employe while in a travel status are not Government employes and hence are not subject to provisions of the economy act.

Telegraphic Dispatches

St. Louis, July 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Ida Groening, 47, who mistakenly believed she was dying from cancer, today shot to death her son, Charles, 22, as he lay sleeping in their home here, and then took her own life. New York, July 25 (A.P.).—The 45-foot cabin cruiser, Follow Through, used by Charles (Buddy) Rogers, stage and screen star, to bring Mary Pickford from her train at Harmon, N. Y., to New York, Saturday, burned to the water's edge today.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 25 (A.P.). A sniper who hid in the brush 150 feet away and killed August Grage, 70-year-old recluse in his farm yard near here yesterday, was the object of an intensive man-hunt today. It was the second unexplained killing in Otter Tail County within a week. The other victim was Mons Jacobson, who lived alone on a farm also. He was tied to a barn stall and tortured. Robbery was believed, by the authorities, to have been the motive.

New York, July 25 (A.P.).—The Clyde-Mallory freighter Oneida, which was in collision with the Dollar Liner President Van Buren near Boston about midnight Saturday, docked today, showing only slight evidence of the accident.

Saginaw, Mich., July 25 (A.P.).—James F. Jackson, 45, and his two children, Margaret, 12, and James, 11, were found shot to death in their home here this morning. Albany, N. Y., July 25 (A.P.).—Benjamin Gordon, known to police as "Cockeye Benny," who is awaiting execution in the death house in Sing Sing Prison, today was granted his ninth reprieve by Gov. Germany Will Adhere To Consultative Pact

London, July 25 (A.P.).—The German government informed Great Britain today that when the occasion arises it will be ready to adhere to the consultative pact in which Britain and France recently agreed to confer with complete candor over the questions troubling Europe.

A representative of the German Embassy said his government was willing to "participate in the open exchange of ideas concerning European questions."

Shortly after the German announcement the Roumanian government made public its decision to adhere to the agreement.

During the past few days the German government has been studying the pact. When announcement was first made that Britain and France had reached an accord, in which they invited other powers to participate, Germany announced she would adhere if it were made certain the terms could not be interpreted to mean a united European front against the United States.

U.S. MOVES TO KEEP CHACO PARLEY OPEN

Other Neutrals Join Efforts While War Fever Grows in South America.

(Associated Press.)

The United States and other neutral nations yesterday moved to keep Bolivia from quitting Chaco peace negotiations with Paraguay.

Assistant Secretary Francis White, of the State Department, and representatives of Colombia, Cuba and Mexico drafted a telegram to Bolivia, asking that the negotiations be continued and that the delegation be sent full information on Chaco clashes since June 15.

The neutrals only last week succeeded in holding a Paraguayan representative here for the conversations after that delegation had been ordered home.

Sunday acting Foreign Minister Gutierrez, of Bolivia, cabled Secretary Stimson that the delegation here had been instructed that continuance of negotiations was not consistent with Bolivian dignity, in view of alleged Paraguayan Chaco attacks. The Paraguayans charged Bolivian aggression when they retired.

Asuncion, Paraguay, July 25 (A.P.). The war fever against Bolivia continued to spread throughout Paraguay over the past week-end as political leaders defended, over the radio and in the press, the Paraguayan stand in the recently inflamed Gran Chaco dispute.

"Although I have a horror of war," said Minister of Finance Justo P. Benitez, "rather than see Paraguayan soil defiled we will defend to the end. Paraguayans are not warlike, but they do not fear death. The profound spiritual unity of the nation has been revealed anew in these solemn hours."

U. S. Says Mellon Is Only on Leave

Has No Knowledge of Reports Ambassador Plans to Resign.

(Associated Press.)

The State Department said yesterday it had no knowledge of reports from abroad that Andrew Mellon plans to resign his post as Ambassador to Great Britain.

Mr. Mellon asked for permission to come home on leave, the department said, and it knew nothing of any alteration in his plans.

Rumors from London that Mr. Mellon would not return have been circulating for several days. Secretary Stimson denied knowledge of any such intention on the part of Mr. Mellon last week. The department does not know exactly when Ambassador Mellon will come to Washington. He is now en route to the United States.

Run-Off Necessary In Texas Primary

"Ma" Ferguson and Sterling Will Contend for Governorship Aug. 27.

Dallas, Tex., July 25 (A.P.).—"Ma" Ferguson, with husband "Jim" directing the show, will battle it out with Gov. Ross S. Sterling in another heated campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination—equivalent to election in Texas.

James E. Ferguson, hard-hitting, gloveless political veteran, was exultant tonight over the big lead his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the State's first woman governor, rolled up in Saturday's primary over Sterling in his bid for a second term and was visibly anxious for the final fray.

Mrs. Ferguson was running 77,000 votes ahead of Sterling in the latest tabulation furnished by the Texas election bureau. She had 300,805 votes to Sterling's 223,813.

Wife of Sabin W. Carr, Athlete, Wins Divorce

Oakland, Calif., July 25 (A.P.).—Virginia K. Carr received an interlocutory decree of divorce today from Sabin W. Carr, noted athlete and former Yale track captain. She charged habitual intoxication and neglect.

Mrs. Carr was given an order for $150 a month for support of their two children, Patricia Joan, 3, and Cynthia, 7 months. In 1928, Carr, a senior at Yale, broke all existing records for pole vaulting and won the Olympic title.

BIG YIELD OF GOLD PREDICTED IN CHILE

25 Tons Yearly of Pure Metal Seen as Nation's Salvation.

Santiago, Chile, July 25 (U.P.).—Chilean gold, which four centuries ago lured Pedro de Valdivia and his fearless Conquistadores to settle this country, may prove to be Chile's economic salvation.

"Chile will produce 25 tons of pure gold annually and will be producing at that rate within six months," Victor Navarrete, American-trained minister of public works, said in an interview today. "Such an output will enable Chile to pay for all its imports in gold."

The reduced exports of nitrates and copper in recent years have created a serious shortage of gold and foreign exchange here.

The Andacollo placer mine in Coquimbo Province, which produced the equivalent of $345,000,000 in metal under the Inca kings, is still Chile's greatest single source of gold. Minister Navarrete, who had just visited the mine, displayed four bars of pure gold weighing 4 kilograms which were on his desk.

The low value of the paper peso, Navarrete explained, makes it possible now to work low grade placer mines that had been idle for decades. State mines, under the administration of the Socialist government, the minister believes, will enable the country to develop a maximum output of gold.

The 36-year-old public works head is one of the most active members of the Socialist government. Navarrete worked as an engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad from 1917 to 1920. Before Provisional President Carlos Davila appointed him to his cabinet, Navarrete was manager of the metallurgical works at Valdivia. He is author of a plan to find work for the country's 120,000 jobless.

Argentine Factions Meet.

Buenos Aires, July 25 (A.P.).—An important move to heal the breach between the two factions of Argentina's Radical party, the split of which made possible the Conservative revolution of 1930, was under way here today. The leaders of the two factions, former President Marcelo T. De Alvear and Hipolito Yrigoyen, met at a "peace" conference last night in Yrigoyen's apartment. It was the first meeting of the two since De Alvear turned the presidency over to Yrigoyen in 1928. Yrigoyen's government was later overthrown by the 1930 revolt, under the late Gen. Jose F. Uriburu.

Marriages of Catholics Banned.

Mexico City, July 25 (A.P.).—The newspaper La Prensa today said Gov. Ildefonso Turrubiartes of the State of San Luis Potosi had issued a decree prohibiting civil judges from marrying any person "who confesses to being a Catholic." The dispatch added that many Catholics had evaded the law by being married in adjoining states, but that San Luis Potosi would not recognize these marriages.

Cuban Feminists Arrested.

Havana, Cuba, July 25 (A.P.).—Three well-known Cuban feminist leaders—Dr. Ofelia Dominguez, Dr. Berta Dardet and Senora Rosa Arredondo—were imprisoned today in connection with antigovernment "terrorism" over the week-end. The only explanation of the authorities was that the first two named had been linked with a diary seized after an accidental bomb explosion Saturday.

Students Score Dictatorships.

Mexico City, July 25 (A.P.).—Several university students were detained by police today during a demonstration against "dictatorships," particularly the rule of President Gerardo Machado of Cuba. The police stepped in and arrested four or five students who got too enthusiastic in their addresses in the university assembly hall.

Naval Officer Ends Life on His Vessel

Lieut. Hampson, Who Lived Here, Was Accused of Overstaying Leave.

Lieut. Edgar W. Hampson, U. S. N., attached to the submarine tender, U. S. S. Holland, took his life Sunday by swallowing poison aboard the ship at San Diego, Calif., according to the Associated Press. Records at the Navy Department showed that he lived at 1868 Columbia road in 1928, but that he never was on duty at Washington.

Hampson had recently been arrested for overstaying his leave from the vessel. Despondency because of this is thought to have prompted his suicide.

He was born in Chicago in 1889 and was appointed to the Naval Academy from St. Louis. He was graduated and commissioned an ensign in 1920. He named his wife, Mrs. Kathryn Coggins Hampson, as his beneficiary. She is at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

B. E. F. Radicals Being Repulsed in Effort to Picket White House

Stormy scenes were enacted in downtown Washington yesterday as the "left wing" faction of the bonus army, trying for the second time within a week to picket the White House, was repulsed by police. Nine were arrested. The leaders were held for investigation and the others were accused of disorderly conduct. At the left, one of the veterans who attempted the march on the White House refused to continue walking after he fell into the hands of police. He was carried bodily to a waiting patrol wagon. In the center picture George Repressas, 39, is shown after his arrest. He lost his shirt in the struggle with police. At the right two detectives are shown shooing Walter Elker, ranking officer of the "left wing," from a tree, where Elker attempted to address his comrades. Elker is held for investigation.

TREASURY MAY ISSUE NEW CURRENCY SOON

National Banks Ask Data on Expansion Law Workings and Its Limits.

(Associated Press.)

More than $6,000,000 in new currency will be issued by the Treasury shortly if inquiries by a score of national banks as to the workings of the new money-expansion law are followed up with deposits of the necessary security bonds.

Banks in all parts of the country were said at the Treasury yesterday to be showing a lively interest in the recently enacted Glass-Borah amendment to the home loan bank law which permits national financial institutions to issue currency on security of Government bonds bearing not more than 3½ per cent interest.

These banks could issue new currency to the extent of their individual capital stock, and if taken advantage of to the limit the law would put $995,000,000 of new money into circulation.

The inquiries received by the Comptroller of the Currency yesterday asked how soon the new provision could be put into effect. Some officials termed the inquiries applications for permission to issue currency, while others held they were only informal requests and said the bonds to guarantee the currency had not yet been deposited.

The offices of the Comptroller and Treasurer said several minor points of law remained to be threshed out before the new currency could be issued. They added, however, that their forces would be ready to turn out the new money in less than a week's time.

It was first announced that eight applications had been received from District of Columbia banks to issue nearly $4,000,000 in new currency, but later it was said that the banks had only made informal inquiries as to how much currency could be issued under the new law.

Elevator Bond Issue Proposed.

Buenos Aires, July 25 (A.P.).—The Chamber of Deputies today received a government measure proposing a $40,000,000 bond issue for the construction of a national network of grain elevators.

THOSE RAILROAD MERGERS.

ONE of the pastimes of the traveling public from now on will be trying to determine what railroad it is on. The Interstate Scrambling Commission has reshuffled the choo-choo lines again, merging 300 Eastern financial problems into four railroad systems.

• • • •

This makes it possible for all the Eastern roads to put their troubles into four baskets, starve under a concentrated control or chase the wolf down the tracks under the cooperative system.

• • • •

It is expected to result in a great saving. Unless the companies have to reletter all those freight cars.

• • • •

The trouble with the railroads was that they had too many systems. It was the same way with bridge until Culbertson came along.

• • • •

The country had become so full of railroad presidents that there was talk of numbering them for the convenience of the public. Nobody seemed to care as long as the many colored freight cars were going out loaded, but it got confusing when they began coming back empty.

• • • •

While the I. C. C. plan is being carried out there will of course be some confusion. Your Pullman berth may be on a Wabash ticket, but you will be sleeping under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

• • • •

You may order a club breakfast on the Lehigh & Hudson but the cooking will be done by the B. & O.

• • • •

And the scenery you admire entering Oswego, N. Y., on the Chesapeake & Ohio will be by special permission of the copyright owners, in this case the Lackawanna and the New York Central.

IT will be easier perhaps for a traveler to place the responsibility for not placing ice in the water tanks but it may be harder than ever to find out under whose auspices a late train began to run behind schedule.

• • • •

And it will be a wise engineer who knows his own railroad.

• • • •

The plan should really result in more freight car movements, as a lot of train crews will have to run their trains back to headquarters to find out who they're working for.

• • • •

Generally speaking, the Interstate Scrambling Commission's step meets with approval. But the commission stopped short of the mark. What America needs today is not fewer railroads but fewer notes in the back of the railroad time tables.

• • • •

If the I. C. C. wants to do a real public service it will merge those asterisks, stars, squares and little black dots.

ELMER TWITCHELL SAYS—

"PRESIDENT HOOVER has cut his salary to $60,000 a year, but you wanna remember that's a lot of money for playing handball and fishing."

With the Junkers back in the saddle in Germany, the former kaiser is so impatient that he is said to be wearing out six dachshunds a day just pacing the floor at Doorn.

Perhaps the assignment of Mr. Tunney as a Democratic stump speaker may be due to a belief that the party needs somebody who can get it on a long count this November.

parley looking to permanent trade restoration.

He also again emphasized his belief that if action is to be taken it be done quickly.

The impending return to Washington of Ambassador Mellon from his post at London is also tied up by the Capital prognosticators with the speculation over a possible economic parley. Certainly he is expected to bring the latest report from Europe on what is likely to happen next December when the nations are called upon again to meet their debt payments.

But the national election campaign, as well as the pending imperial trade conference at Ottawa, are both expected to defer any immediate action for an international parley.

Meanwhile, time will be had for a careful survey of public reaction to the international situation—and time, also, for public education.

CRUSADE PLANNED ON VETERANS' COST

National Group Will Fight Payment for Nonservice Disabilities.

New York, July 25 (A.P.).—Nation-wide machinery to agitate for a $452,000,000 reduction in America's payments to its war veterans will be set in motion tomorrow.

The meeting of men from various parts of the Nation is the outgrowth of the petition sent to Congress in May by Archibald B. Roosevelt and other prominent veterans, decrying the drain on the National Treasury for disabilities not suffered in war service.

The petition, and prompt formation of the National Economy League, evoked a "tremendous public response," its leaders say. Now committees are to be formed in 435 congressional districts, to push for veterans' and other governmental economies. The league will cooperate with other nonpartisan groups.

The league contends millions are being thrown as political sop to veterans by laws permitting, for example, a man to collect money if he is injured in an accident today, because he may have served briefly in a training camp in 1918.

"Greedy lawyers are making these big sums so spent grow larger all the time," said Maj. Gilbert C. Browne, executive secretary of the league. "They are hunting the loopholes and showing thousands more men each year how to squeeze undeserved money from the Government.

Gen. James G. Harbord will preside at the meeting tomorrow. Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Archibald B. Roosevelt and Royal C. Johnson, representative in Congress from North Dakota, will be among the speakers.

Policeman Suspended On Intoxication Count

Frank Boneslawski, policeman attached to the Second Precinct, is under suspension and is awaiting a hearing before the Police Trial Board on charges of being intoxicated while on duty.

Police officials said Pvt. Boneslawski was suspended early one morning at Camp Bartlett, of the bonus expeditionary forces, where he was detailed, when Lieut. L. E. Kelly, of the Eleventh Precinct, met him while making an early morning inspection. Lieut. Kelly relieved him of his revolver and badge and turned the case over to Acting Lieut. P. L. Barnes, of the Second Precinct.

"Job Crusaders" Reach Louisville on Way Here

Louisville, Ky., July 25 (A.P.).—A contingent of "job crusaders," who said they were on their way to Washington to demand employment, camped under the Big Four Bridge tonight and planned a recruiting campaign in Louisville.

Stanley Watson, their leader, said they started from Missoula, Mont., numbering only 19, but had gained recruits on the way to swell their number to 55. No drinking or radicalism is allowed during the march.

New Grand Jury Silent As to Reynolds Inquiry

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 25 (A.P.).—A new grand jury was drawn and organized here today, but no indication came as to whether it would inquire into the strange death of Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, from a bullet wound here nineteen days ago.

In any case, routine matters will fill the jury's time for the first few days it holds office and it is expected to be the latter part of the week, court attaches said, before it will be free to launch any investigations.

VETERANS TODAY TO OFFER PROPOSAL FOR EVACUATION

ring's home when the postponement was announced.

The petition for the restraining order will be held temporarily in abeyance, pending Treasury Department's disposition of the evacuation plan of the veterans. The original order of the Treasury Department was served Saturday by Edward R. Witman, a legal adviser of the supervising architect of the Treasury.

Conference of Experts.

Recommendations for legal action to effect withdrawal of the veterans from the Government buildings were sent to Mr. Heath after a conference yesterday of legal experts of the District in the office of U. S. Marshal Edgar Snyder.

Their views to the Treasury Department included the list of laws under which immediate action might be taken, those governing postponement of the ouster order, and laws applicable to future action to evict the men.

Assistant District Attorney John Fihelly was spokesmen for the conferees. Others who attended the conference were Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward W. Thomas, legal adviser of the Treasury Department, and Superintendent of Police Pelham D. Glassford.

Is Dragged From Tree.

The series of fist fights, which started at Fifteenth street and New York avenue, when police sought to divert the marchers from the vicinity of the White House, ended at Thirteenth and E streets, when Elker was dragged from a tree, from which he attempted to make an address.

In the course of the traveling scraps, a newspaper photographer was slugged by a veteran, and another veteran, who grabbed a gun from a policeman's holster, started a wild chase down F street until he was seized and subdued.

Elker and Pace were leading their men across New York avenue and when they attempted to cross Fifteenth street Capt. W. E. Holmes, of the First Precinct, ordered them east on New York avenue. Reinforcements aided the police.

Sent to Precinct Stations.

The fighting broke out when veterans resisted the attempts to shunt them from the vicinity of the Executive Mansion. Shouting, and hurling maledictions at the police, the men were shoved eastward on New York avenue. Several veterans who resisted were bundled into patrol wagons and sent to the precinct stations.

As the veterans were moved down Thirteenth street toward F street, thousands of pedestrians gathered and caused a traffic tie-up. Other fights broke out between veterans and police at this intersection. One veteran's shirt was torn off in the struggle.

While police were grappling with this veteran, another former soldier snatched a revolver from a policeman's holster and sped down F street, with a shouting band of policemen and spectators at his heels. He was caught after a short chase and submitted meekly to arrest.

During this engagement, Francis Hoffman, a photographer of the Washington Times, was slugged in the eye by a veteran who said his name was David Budd, giving a Washington address. Hoffman said he would prefer charges of assault against the man.

Strangle-Hold on Veteran.

The hooting and yelling group of veterans, with a few thousand spectators in their wake, were shoved down Thirteenth street to E street, where Eicker leaped into a tree, and attempted to make a speech.

Detective J. B. Baker and Private R. N. White clambered into the branches and after Baker put a strangle-hold on him, Eicker decided to come down.

Meanwhile, Pace had been arrested by Detective Sergeant Howard E. Ogle. Pace, the leader of the Communist wing of the bonus army billeted at Thirteenth and B streets southwest, said the men were "just out for a walk."

At the White House, he said, they intended to elect a committee to present a petition to President Hoover, demanding an extra session of Congress to pass the bonus bill. Face said he had just arrived from Detroit, where he had addressed a mass meeting of the Communist party.

Motorcycle Squad Arrives.

As the disturbance was waning at Thirteenth and E streets, a mob of about 100 veterans, augmented by twice as many curious spectators, streamed past the Fifteenth street barrier near Treasury Place. They were standing across from the White House when a squad of fifteen motorcycle police, headed by Gen. Glassford, whirled into action, and sent the men scurrying down Pennsylvania avenue to their billets.

Before the disturbances occurred, Gen. Glassford ordered the area, bounded by H street, Constitution avenue, Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets, cleared of all spectators and veterans. The mob was being moved through Franklin Park when a motorcycle policeman informed Gen. Glassford the veterans were approaching by way of Fourteenth street.

With the men at his command, Gen. Glassford ordered the paraders to turn around at Fifteenth and New York avenue. The veterans complied temporarily, but crossed the middle of the block and started back again. They were again driven off, and the onset continued until they were finally dispersed.

Men Booked at Stations.

Those booked at the First and Third Precinct stations are:

Pace, of Lincoln City, Mich.

Albert Gershowitz, of New York City.

Frank Thomas, a logger, of Portland, Oreg., who came here under Commander in Chief Walter W. Waters.

George Repressa, a dishwasher, a native of Spain.

Eicker, who gave a Detroit and a Washington address.

Louis Priovolos, a Greek cook, of New York City.

John Dmetrick, a chauffeur, of New York.

Sylvester McKinney, who gave his address as 210 Thirteenth street southwest.

David Budd, who gave an address in Pennsylvania avenue near Twenty-second street northwest.

Orders Out More Men.

In anticipation of the enforcement of the Treasury Department ouster order, Waters yesterday dispatched 2,000 veterans from Camp Marks and Camp Bartlett in Anacostia to points along Pennsylvania avenue so that there would be more veterans to evict.

When the ouster order was deferred he ordered the men back to their camps. "If by any chance violence should result from the attempt to force us from the Capital, it will be begun by our opponents," Waters said. "If the agency employed to evict us chooses to use force it will meet only passive resistance."

Drive on Panhandling.

Hoke Smith, national supply officer of the B. E. F., yesterday took steps to suppress panhandling by individual members of the bonus army and those representing themselves as bonus marchers. He said that if the situation could be remedied in no other way, the B. E. F. itself would prosecute panhandlers.

Approximately 20 credential cards, signed by himself and bearing the approval and seal of Waters, were issued last night. Only men with these cards are authorized to accept donations of any kind for the army. Smith said he would appreciate cooperation of District residents in suppression of panhandling, and any cases reported to national supply headquarters at 654 Pennsylvania avenue northwest would be severely dealt with.

Shreveport Recruiting Authorized by Waters

Shreveport, La., July 25 (A.P.).—Capt. Bob Dunham, identified with a group of Shreveport bonus marchers, said today he had received a telegram from W. W. Waters, commander of the bonus army at Washington, requesting men from this territory immediately, in reply to a wire sent to Waters stating that men could be recruited here.

The Waters message said: "Situation here such that we need capable men, willing to accept long, hard service. Your cooperation appreciated and you are authorized to qualify members of your command and bring them to Washington now. We can best serve our cause now by quality of men, rather than quantity."

Dunham said a recruiting tent will be placed on a downtown corner.

LIFETIME FURNITURE

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Equipping the Guest Room With Beauty.

THE hostess "to the manner born" realizes what an important part beauty plays in our modern lives and she is always ready for the guest who has packed quickly but, alas, not completely.

If the guest's preferences in beauty aids are known, it is a simple matter to get small containers of the desired brand; creams, lotions, cosmetics and have them handy in the medicine chest of the bathroom if there is a special guest bathroom near the guest room, or in a drawer of the dressing table in the guest room if the guest is to share the family bathroom. Not knowing your guest's preferences, have a few small jars, bottles, tubes, &c., of the better-known brands.

If you have creams in jars, it is a good plan to supply your guest with several small spatulas so that the cream will not be touched by her fingers and therefore be fresh and fit for use by the next guest.

Dressing Table.

A dressing table is very essential and this may be as simple or elaborate as you please. The little French tables that close when not in use are delightful. When open they reveal a single, or preferably a triple, mirror and inside several compartments that can conveniently and easily hold cleansing cream, skin tonic, skin food, a roll of cotton, cleansing tissues, an eye lotion with cup or dropper, two or three glass bowls into which skin tonic or astringent or liquid cleanser may be poured. The thoughtful hostess usually has little individual puffs in glass or cellophane so that dust won't get at them, also combs in individual glassine envelopes. Several shades of powder, rouge, lip rouge (in paste, not stick form—taking sanitary precautions) may be kept on hand so that the guest has a fair enough choice. Eye shadow and mascara, too, and the indispensable little eyebrow brushes.

A compact little mending kit is a thoughtful gesture and a manicure set, too, to take care of a broken nail, ragged cuticle or polish that suddenly chips.

Personal Touch.

In the bathroom, a few guest tooth brushes should always be on hand for emergency purposes. There are some charming sets, individually packaged in cellophane and inexpensively priced so that one may be presented to the guest who has happened to forget hers. Tooth pastes and powders, mouth washes, deodorants and antiperspiants can all be obtained in small packages. Bath salts, bath dusting powder, soaps, toilet waters and perfumes may be obtained in a variety of odors and colors. If you know the individual preferences of your guest, it is simple enough to add the "especially for you" touch in the form of colored towels in the bath and guest room, colored hangers, and so on.

Since comfort is an important part of beauty, make sure that a soft, easy chair or chaise longue will induce complete relaxation, that the window shade really works, that a reading lamp sheds a good light at the right angle, that books and magazines are at hand to help woo sweet sleep. The solicitous hostess considers carefully the needs of her guest and is fully prepared to cater to them.

If you have any questions on fitting up the guest room, write me and I shall be very happy to help you.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Leaf green georgette, accordion pleated, with black and white taffeta applique outlined in silver. One black and one silver belt, and a decided flare to the skirt panels set low on the gown. (A Dah-ray design.)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 25.—An evening wrap can be, and often is, a thing of such enchanting beauty that I am tempted to wax lyrical and put this article into verse! It seems almost as though the couturiers, in creating these garments, put into them the most intriguing ideas of the mode, the most enthralling products of the weaver's art, and their most breathless flights of imagination.

In writing about evening wraps, for that very reason, one cannot generalize about the trend of the mode as one can with most other items of the feminine toilette. The one requirement of an evening wrap is that it be beautiful. If it is that, which assumes that it harmonizes with its accompanying evening dress, then the line, the material and the details may be of infinite variety.

There are, however, a few definite points on which I can be specific. One is that for the coming season, the long and the short, the wee and the three-quarter evening wrap will all be seen. The short wrap that ends at the natural waistline, of course, will be less new than those of other lengths, but that does not mean that it will be any less chic.

As to fabrics, velvet—but of course some of the new velvets, will lead. Or perhaps only run neck and neck with fur evening wraps—for those who can afford the latter. And fur trimming is ever and always elegant for evening wraps, whether they be long or short ones. Yet not indispensable to elegance—far from it. For if you are the type that can carry it, the evening wrap that is not fur-trimmed is often the most distinctive one.

Sleeves on evening wraps continue to be very important. By their sleeves ye shall know them, really—and by the way the wearer handles her sleeves! 'Nif you don't think that there is an art to handling the evening gown sleeve, just try wearing a few of the different ones that are the mode!

She looks like a "wistful, exotic flower, strangely white, dancing in a bar of wan of moonlight" in this gown—even if I do say so myself. For the day of the gown that means something is here again, and Miladi lovely has learned that she can wear a gown that is at one and the same time stylish, becoming, and poetic.

Green georgette, all accordion pleated makes the flattering body of the gown. And then white taffeta is appliqued on in huge flow conventional flower shapes, black leaves interspersed between, and the whole outlined in silver to give a frosty allure. Then the bottom hem of the skirt flares sharply—looking as though some of the flowers simply had longer leaves. And one black belt and one silver one hold the frock to the "figure divine" beneath it.

* * * *

Maybe a housedress made from five bandana handkerchiefs, when each of them costs five cents apiece, doesn't mold the figure like the evening gown I illustrated for you today—but how it does flatter one! Why, it's as gay as old Mexico, and as practical and comfortable as the day is long—and hot. And when you stop to think that it takes just about a half an hour to make, what with scarcely any cutting or sewing to it—you can't help but send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make it, now can you? Yes, it launders divinely, and yes, it is chic!

* * * *

Western boots with high, decorative tops and high heels are worn at ranches, and somehow, they are exceedingly comfortable as well as decorative. Miladi who is accustomed to high heels and who spends any time at all at dude ranching should get some. Yes, and you can wear a sombrero if you wish, too.

Au Revoir.

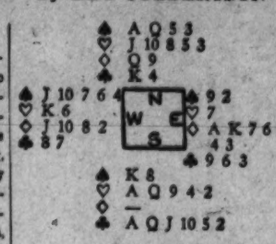
OVERCALLING OPPONENTS' BIDS.

AN immediate Overcall in opponents' bid suit is a bid forcing to game, whether or not the partnership making the Overcall has opened the bidding. This Overcall, when the partnership has opened the bidding, carries with it, even in the early stages, the suggestion of the possibility of a Slam depending upon finding a fit in the hands, or, perhaps, may be made when one player already knows the fit of the hand and desires to convey definite information to the partner at the earliest possible moment.

Through overcalling two suits bid by opponents, as well as an accurate appraisal of the combined strength of the hands, two expert players eventually reached a Slam contract in hearts, which was, of course, laid down. Without the information given by these Overcalls, North and South must almost inevitably have stopped short of the makable Slam.

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.



The Bidding.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♣(1)	Pass	1♡(2)	2◇
3◇(3)	3♣	4♣(4)	Pass
6♡(5)	Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) Smith's correct Opening bid is one heart. With 6-5 distributions, as with those of equal length, the higher ranking should first be bid. However, the club bid makes it even easier for partner to respond, and this is the determining factor in South's choice of an opening.

(2) With more than 2 honor-tricks in his hand and a suit of five cards, only slightly shaded as regards biddable strength, North's response is apparent.

(3) The first hint of Slam possibilities.

(4) North showed that the spade situation need not be alarming.

(5) South knows the fit of the hand in trumps. North's trump suit need not be very strong to limit the possible losers in that suit to one. If there is a heart loser, then certainly there cannot be a club loser, as otherwise North would not have made the Slam-compelling bid of four spades. He would have been content to either rebid his own suit, assist his partner's suit, or pass, assured that South, who had overcalled East's diamond bid, would keep the bidding open until a game contract was reached.

Today's Pointer.

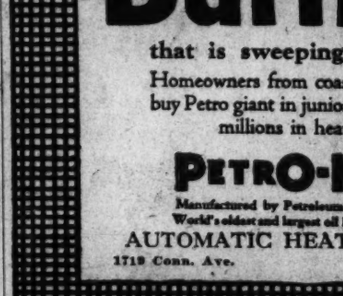
The Overcall of opponent's bid suit to show control is quite often the only method of realizing the full attacking power of the combined holdings. Naturally, such a bid can not be made merely because the opponents' suit is controlled, but the hand must be fortified with honor strength as well.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

West—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

WAYS OF SERVING VEAL.

(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

All veal should be served well done, not rare like beef. Veal contains less fat and a larger proportion of connective tissue than many other meats and hence needs slow cooking at a low temperature for a rather long time. Lacking the pronounced flavor of other meats, veal is usually seasoned a little more than beef or lamb, before it is cooked, with onion juice, lemon and Worcestershire sauce, or other commercial sauces as well as salt and pepper.

Veal cutlet should be cut about three-quarters of an inch thick, or it will dry out in cooking. Remove any skin and cut into convenient-sized pieces. Season them, dip in flour and cook slowly in shallow fat until a crust is formed on both sides. Then cover and cook slowly until done. If necessary, a small amount of hot water may be added and when the pan is covered the steam will help to make the meat tender. Another way to cook veal cutlet after preparing and seasoning it is to dip the pieces in a thick egg batter, fry them in either shallow or deep fat, and when brown place in a baking dish. Cover with gravy made from the pan drippings and cook in the oven at low temperatures until the meat is tender.

"Veal birds" are individual size pieces of cutlet, cut thin, spread with stuffing, rolled and baked in a casserole. The short cutlets from the lower leg are very good for making these.

When the meat is put through a grinder veal does not take quite so long to cook, although it should always be well done when served. After seasoning the veal patties illustrated were molded and cooked like hamburger steak, but longer and more slowly. They could also be baked in a casserole after searing the outside.

Molded veal loaf is one of the best ways of serving ground veal. The meat is good either hot or cold, or as a sandwich filling, with or without lettuce of watercress.

The less tender cuts of veal from the shoulder, neck and lower end of the leg are always good if browned, simmered until tender and then used in various savory ways. One might have a plain veal stew one day, and another time serve a curry of veal with rice and vegetables, made by the recipe below. Or make veal timbales, after putting the cooked veal through the meat grinder and combining it with a thick sauce and eggs. Jellied veal is another good summer use for ground veal which has been cooked with a knuckle bone.

Curry of Veal.

1 cup sliced onion
2 tablespoons pan drippings
1 quart skinned sliced green or medium ripe tomatoes
2 cups chopped lean cooked veal
1 teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Salt to taste

Cook the onion in the drippings for a few minutes. Add the tomatoes, cover, and cook until tender. Add the veal and seasonings; also two or three tablespoons brown meat juice from the roasting pan or about half a cup of brown gravy. Heat the mixture thoroughly and serve with hot flaky rice. Tart apples may be used instead of tomatoes.

Veal Timbales.

2 tablespoons butter or other fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup meat broth, milk, or thin gravy
2 eggs
Salt and pepper to taste
Lemon juice to taste
2 cups ground cooked veal
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Make a sauce of the fat, flour and liquid. Add the well-beaten eggs, seasoning and meats, and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased timbale molds or custard cups. Place the cups in a pan of water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) about one-half hour, or until set in the center. Turn the timbales out and serve.

Wyoming Returns With Midshipmen

Battleship Training Cruise Extended to Puerto Rico and Texas.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 25.—The battleship Wyoming, bearing half the complement of the first and second class of midshipmen, dropped anchor in Chesapeake Bay off Annapolis this afternoon, bringing to a close the first leg of an abbreviated summer practice cruise. The Wyoming is under the command of Capt. Benjamin Dutton. She left Annapolis June 3. The principal stops during the seven weeks' journey were Galveston, Texas and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The midshipmen aboard, numbering 1,000, will disembark early tomorrow morning and start on their annual leave to visit their homes. They will return to Annapolis during the last week in September to make ready for the opening of the academic term.

The rest of the first and second class midshipmen who have been on leave since June 3 will come here to embark on the Wyoming for the second leg of the cruise, which will begin August 1. This trip will carry the young seafarers to the Azores and Nova Scotia, the cruise ending at Annapolis, September 28. The second-class midshipmen who have been undergoing special instruction in aviation at the academy during the summer will not get their leave until the latter part of August.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SKIN TUBERCULOSIS.

IN spite of the decrease in all forms of consumption there are many who are interested in lupus, or skin tuberculosis. It still prevails to a moderate extent in regions where the cows and hogs are apt to be tuberculous and where consumption is much neglected. It can be cured, and usually is. We rarely see the chronic persisting ulcers of the face and neck of the kind so frequently encountered a quarter of a century ago.

Experience has taught us some things about the treatment of this disease. X-rays are rarely used now in treating it. An extensive trial showed that the X-ray treatment of lupus was useless with few exceptions and, to make matters worse, it is dangerous. The use of radium in the treatment of lupus is open to the same objections. Just the opposite conclusion is true of ultraviolet treatment. Ultraviolet light treatments given by a mercury vapor lamp at a proper distance and with a proper length of exposure are of great service. The light is a powerful agency for good when properly used and that means, of course, that improperly used it is capable of doing harm.

There is no question but that the skin is a chemical factory where products are made that are essential to health and well being. The notion that the skin is nothing but a wrapping membrane, protecting against heat and cold, moisture and dryness, is far short of the whole truth. Like the liver, the skin manufactures necessary chemicals. It takes sunlight and, in some mysterious way, fabricates it into vitmains or, maybe, it uses sunlight in its manufacture of these essentials. However you state it, the skin contributes to health and general well being. Exposure to machine made rays of ultraviolet is of direct service in curing lupus and of indirect service in that it builds up resistance.

Tuberculin is of service in the treatment of lupus. In many cases it is adivsable to remove the tubercular nodes in the disease. Sometimes they are scraped away by an operative procedure. Sometimes the surgeon removes the nodules, using for the purpose a mixture of carbolic acid and caustic potash diluted and in the form of a paste. The details are of no direct interest to any one except the physician in the case, and he knows where to get the formulas. The patient's interest lies in knowing that cure is possible and that the scarring that follows is not deforming.

A person with lupus is in no great increased danger of consumption of the lungs. In fact, his skin disorder may help to protect his lungs. On the other hand, a person with an active lupus is capable of infecting others. The precautions necessary for the protection of those in contact with cases of consumption are advisable, in a general way, for those in contact with a case of lupus.

NOT SERIOUS TROUBLE.

Mrs. Z. N. writes: About a month ago a small lump formed inside the left lower eyelid of my 9-year-old daughter. I though it a sty, but it kept getting larger. There is no inflammation, but I notice she blinks every few seconds. A friend of mine thought it the beginning of St. Vitus' dance.

REPLY.

Chalazion located near the border of the lid is not infrequent. It does little harm. It irritates slightly and this may cause blinking. If chalazion is her only trouoble you have not much to worry about.

PROBABLY ON WRONG TRACK.

T. M. B. writes:

1. What is uric acid?
2. What causes it?
3. Does it affect the kidneys?
4. Will dieting help troubles due to uric acid?
5. I am 55 years old, in perfect health, no bad habits. A year ago I noticed a sore place on my elbow. Later it became lame, and now it has extended to the shoulder and all ligaments are stiff and sore. I apply hot applications with little results. I would appreciate your opinion.

REPLY.

1. An organic acid, somewhat akin chemically to urea. A generation ago physicians charged it with diseases enough to fill a five-foot shelf.
2. It is the waste product caused by breaking down of the nuclei of cells.
3. To a limited extent. It sometimes forms gravel and stones and thus causes kidney colic. It may possibly be a cause of some forms of Bright's disease.
4. Yes. A person who is subject to gout and other diseases due to uric acid should eat freely of vegetables, and sparingly of meats and eggs, coffee, tea, spices, condiments; and alcoholic beverages should not be consumed. Potatoes and bananas are about the two best foods.
5. You probably have either rheumatism or neuritis. Probably uric acid is not the cause of your trouble.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF July 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9:45 p. m. The danger period is from noon to 2:45 p. m.

Many incidents are scheduled to happen on July 26, which will change the current trend of events. A chance encounter or an unexpected letter may open up great possibilities and lead to unanticipated consequences. The stars foretell that there will be some friction and disturbance of a family nature, which might eventuate in separation.

Children born on this July 26 will always be reserved and, in their way, self-sufficient. They will not make friends easily, and will possess analytical minds. Actions or people will not interest them as much as the motives that prompted the actions. They will be intellectual and clever, but bound to lead lonely lives, owing to the self-restraint that they will always exercise.

You, if born on July 26, are gregarious, and are lost when left to your own devices. You never are happier than when with a crowd, and doing as the crowd does. Lacking initiative and originality, you are not cut out to be a leader, but will be contented with an ordinary role. Your convictions—and you will only have a few—will be easily amended by you to suit the fancies and whims of your associates.

You are not keen on work, and look upon it only as a necessity and never as a pleasure. You do what you have to do to the best of your ability, and will shine in a subordinate capacity. You will never excel where leadership and executive control are needed.

Your personality, although not forceful, is quite charming, and your friends and associates find in you a pleasant and desirable companion. You are frank and loyal and possess high moral standards of living. Even the desire to please can not make you change these standards. Your disposition is easy-going and tolerant, and no one finds it difficult to get along with you. Even when your ire is aroused, the storm—never a severe one—is soon over. You are complacent as well as sympathetic. On the whole, as you are contented with little, your life promises to be a happy, even if not a successful one.

Successful people born July 26: Edward Mandell House, personal representative of President Wilson to Europe.

"Her Nerves are Ragged . . . She Can't Face Another Day of Work"

"I can't go through another day . . . oh, what is the matter? What shall I do"? Did you ever feel this way yourself?

Nearly Nervous Prostration

DO you know her ::: this poor woman who wakes up as tired as she went to bed?

Her head is still aching . . . her nerves are ragged . . . she's on the verge of tears as she faces another day of work.

"I can't go through it again . . . I can't. Oh, what is the matter? What shall I do?" she cries.

How many young women are fast approaching a nervous breakdown because they let suffering due to female weakness rob them of their strength and health.

In offices or in their homes, they drive themselves, working "on their nerve." Hoping against hope that tomorrow they will feel better ::: but instead they become more and more prostrated.

It is a double tragedy because it is so unnecessary.

Nature did not mean women to suffer so cruelly. If they would only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound! It has befriended women against their "peculiar" troubles for over 50 years.

It brings soothing, comforting relief ::: gently corrects through its strengthening tonic action the cause of the headaches and backaches that wear you out. Drives away the awful lassitude that kills ambition and makes life a burden.

This simple, safe remedy has justly earned its place in the Family Medicine Cabinet.

Won't you listen to the testimony of thousands of women who use it?

Give it at least one chance to help you. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Or, try it in the new, convenient tablet form.

SERVICE FOR TUCKER HELD AT LEXINGTON

Technical Difficulties Arise in Naming Successor Due to District Shifts.

Lexington, Va., July 25 (A.P.).—Henry St. George Tucker, the fourth of his name and family from Virginia to serve in the Congress of the United States, was buried in the family plot here today following services at his late home.

Delegations from the United States Senate and House of Representatives joined with the Governor of Virginia and other leaders of State politics and numerous friends in paying final tribute to the 78-year-old representative of the Tenth Virginia District.

Dr. James J. Murray, pastor of Lexington Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Tucker was a member, conducted the services, assisted by Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, of Richmond, a cousin of the House member. Throughout the afternoon flags on the Lexington Municipal Building and in front of business houses and homes were flown at half-mast and during the funeral hour business houses were closed.

Dignitaries Attend.

Senators Glass, of Virginia; Hull, of Tennessee; Harrison, of Mississippi; Neely, of West Virginia, and Connally, of Texas, Democrats, and Borah, of Idaho, and Goldsborough, of Maryland, Republicans; members of the Virginia delegation in the House, Gov. Pollard and Attorney General John R. Saunders were among the honorary pallbearers. Active pallbearers were Wilcox Brown, John L. Campbell, jr., M. W. Paxton, jr., Dr. Reid White, Robert Hutcheson, Randolph T. Shields and N. Beverley Tucker, jr., all of Lexington.

Richmond, Va., July 25 (A.P.).—Legal and political authorities today faced an unprecedented question growing out of the selection of a successor to Representative Tucker for the remainder of his term from the Tenth District, which under the redistricting law has been absorbed by the Seventh.

Question of Successor.

Mr. Tucker at the time of his death Saturday was representative of the Tenth District, and so would have been in office in this capacity until next March 4. Meanwhile he was unopposed as the Democratic party nominee for the Seventh District in the general election to be held in November.

Today's question involved the problem as to what tribunal may nominate the Democratic choice for the unexpired term, the Tenth District having been abolished, and presumably the Tenth District Democratic committee with it. If the nomination is by convention, it was pointed out, the question is what group would be empowered to call the convention.

Mrs. McCormick's Will Is Filed Here

Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms' Mother-in-Law Left $100,000 Estate.

Robert R. McCormick, of Chicago, yesterday filed in District Supreme Court the will of his mother, Mrs. Katherine Medill McCormick, who died in Versailles, France, April 11. The estate was valued at $100,000.

The contents of Mrs. McCormick's home at 3000 Massachusetts avenue northwest belonged to her deceased son, Joseph Medill McCormick, the instrument explained, and are now the property of Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms.

Mrs. Simms will receive all the wearing apparel, furs and laces. Mrs. McCormick's granddaughters, Katherine and Ruth McCormick, were bequeathed jewelry. The son, Robert, receives a portrait of his father and some silverware. Three employes were remembered.

Doolittle and Washington Scion End 14-State Flight

Famous Pilot and Kin of First President Cover Colonial Trails by Air in Honor of 157th Anniversary of U. S. Mail.

Newark, N. J., July 25 (A.P.).—Over a domain George Washington took a lifetime to traverse, Maj. James Doolittle flew between an early breakfast and a late dinner today to commemorate the 157th anniversary of the founding of the United States postal service.

With Anne Madison Washington, great-great-great-grandniece of the First President, and A. F. Maple, representing the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, he arrived at Newark airport at 8:20 (Eastern standard time) tonight, 16 hours and 55 minutes after he left Boston this morning.

He had covered some 2,900 miles in 14 States along the Atlantic seaboard, stopped once in Washington to refuel, and dropped packets of letters on a score of airports as he hummed over the trails plodded 150 years ago by Washington, an ardent supporter of the postal system.

As the party stepped from the plane Doolittle said he attained his highest speed on leaving Kittery, Me., where he sped along at 210 miles an hour on the heels of a 40-mile tailwind. Coming down the Hudson from Albany he ran into a brisk headwind which delayed his arrival somewhat.

"I have never traveled so fast," said Miss Washington happily, "and I never hope to travel by any other means. It was lovely."

Miss Washington, a descendant of George Washington's brother and of President Madison, was bustled off to spend the night with Miss Edna Harrison, a friend, of Montclair, N. J., and the major fussed about his plane momentarily. Maple left to report to the Aeronautical Association, sponsors of the flight.

Starting from Boston at 3:25 a. m., the party flew north as far as Kittery and then followed the coastline down to Washington, where they refueled. They continued south to Yorktown and other points connected with the memory of the first President and doubled back through Pennsylvania and New York State, dropping their final missives over West Point.

The States covered were Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Ohio, New York, Rhode Island, Maryland and Vermont. The principal historical points touched were Valley Forge, Pa.; Fredericksburg, Va.; Mount Vernon, West Point, N. Y.; Winchester, Va., and Yorktown, Va.

Mrs. Harney Dies At Her Home Here

Wife of Patent Attorney to Be Buried in Congressional Cemetery.

Mrs. Martha G. Harney, 68, a resident of Washington for many years, died yesterday at her home at 2269 Cathedral avenue. She was born in England and came here as a child.

Her first husband was the late Milo B. Stevens, once prominent pension and patent attorney. After his death she married Thomas R. Harney, patent attorney, who survives her.

Funeral services will be held at her home at 3 o'clock this afternoon, followed by burial in Congressional Cemetery. Other survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Lanier McLachlen, and a sister, Miss Elizabeth A. Jordan.

MISS ELIZABETH DUPUY DIES

Daughter of Clergyman Was Author of Volumes of Verse.

Miss Elizabeth Dupuy, a writer and the daughter of the late Rev. Thomas C. and Frances Dupuy Smith, of Virginia, died Sunday after a long illness. Miss Dupuy was employed in the Veterans Bureau during the World War. She lived at 1750 Sixteenth street northwest.

She was born in Prince Edward County, Va., and was a descendant of the Huguenot refugee, Bartholomew Dupuy. She had been a Washington resident for many years. She was the author of several volumes of poems, among them "The Dragon Yoke," "River of Dreams" and others.

Harlan Jury Disagrees Again in Labor Case

Harlan, Ky., July 25 (A.P.).—For the second time during the present special session of Harlan Circuit Court called to try cases growing out of mine labor disorders, a jury today failed to agree in the trial of F. M. Bratcher, a miner.

Bratcher was tried on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Howard Jones, a commissary clerk, one of the four men killed last year in a clash at Evarts. At Bratcher's first trial the jury disagreed when the defendant was tried on a charge of having slain Deputy Sheriff Jim Daniels, one of the four killed.

Arkansas Mine Riot Draws Out Troops

500 Union Men Try to Ban Work by Nonmembers; Foreman Is Hurt.

Clarksville, Ark., July 24 (A.P.).—Efforts of 500 union miners to halt nonunion operations in the Johnson County coal fields caused disorder today that resulted in injuries to a mine boss and mobilization of National Guardsmen.

The organizers, who flocked into the Clarksville area from Oklahoma and other parts of Arkansas, camped near the mines tonight under the watchful eyes of troops who were ordered by Gov. Harvey Parnell to hold themselves in readiness for any eventuality.

Sheriff Fred Russell requested mobilization of the guardsmen after Bob Griffith, a pit boss at the Clarksville Coal Co. mine, was brought to a hospital with injuries he said were inflicted by a group of men because he would not let them enter the mine and exhort nonunion workers to organize. He was beaten and kicked, but was not seriously hurt.

Except for the one brush at the Clarksville Coal Co. mine, the invasion was peaceful. The men went to the mines and called out the nonunion workers, urging them to join the union, and insisted the union be recognized by the mine operators.

Democratic Group Near Wet Breach

But Mississippians Back Ticket and Indorse Party Action.

Jackson, Miss., July 25 (A.P.).—The Democratic State executive committee meeting here today refrained from specific indorsement of the prohibition repeal plank adopted at Chicago because of a threatened breach among committeemen. Introduction of a resolution indorsing the national platform in its entirety brought a protest from Committeeman N. S. Williams, who said he would support the party and its nominees, but would not support the wet plank.

A substitute, which received unanimous indorsement, merely said the committee indorses "the action of the Democratic party and pledges full support to the ticket nominated at the Chicago convention."

More friction arose with a proposed resolution condemning members of the Mississippi delegation to the national convention for not "wholeheartedly" supporting the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Presidency.

It was regarded as a slap at Gov. Sennett Connor, who favored the nomination of Newton D. Baker. The resolution was rejected by an overwhelming vote.

No "HANGOVERS" like these with AMOCO!

Here is a graphic picture of where poor oil and gas eventually end up—as carbon that clogs the cylinder heads of your motor.

AND that makes the most costly oil and gas in the world. For no matter how much you save when you buy them, you pay many times over in loss of power and in costly repair bills. What you gain at the pump is lost in cost per mile.

There are no such "hangovers" with Amoco Oil and Amoco-Gas. You get more miles to the gallon—more motoring satisfaction to the mile—and more for your money in fewer repair bills. There is no substitute for Amoco.

THE GRAIN TRADE FIGHT.

The row between the Chicago Board of Trade and the Farmers' National Grain Corporation has been brewing for a long time. It should be be brought to a showdown. If the charges brought by the commission administering the futures trading act are valid, the board of trade must be forced to comply with the law or suffer the consequences.

It is obviously the purpose of the commission to compel the board of trade to grant clearing house privileges to the grain corporation, which is sponsored by the Farm Board. In suspending the board as a contract market, the commission clearly indicated that the penalty would be reconsidered as soon as the board recedes from its position. But the board does not intend to surrender. The case will doubtless be carried to the Supreme Court where the status of the national cooperatives set up by the Farm Board will be finally decided.

The controversy goes to the very roots of the agricultural marketing scheme adopted by Congress. Ever since the act creating the Farm Board came into effect there has been a conflict of interests between the grain traders and the cooperatives. The Chicago Board of Trade is accused of discriminating against the farmers' marketing agency for the purpose of discrediting it and bring the efforts of the Farm Board to naught. The Farm Board is struggling to give farmers control over their own marketing machinery. Naturally the board of trade resents this encroachment upon its own functions.

Since the Farmers' National has been granted clearing privileges in every other important trading market in the country, the position of the board of trade seems to be unreasonable. Nevertheless, judgment should be withheld until all the facts are developed. If there is any valid reason why the board refuses to grant the grain cooperative trading privileges, the objection can doubtless be overcome. But if the board is merely obstructing the work of the Government in setting up more adequate marketing agencies for the farmer, it must expect to be severely disciplined. The Government will not allow a private agency to defeat its purposes.

The plea that execution of the commission's order would disrupt the grain market in the midst of the harvest is beside the point. The question is whether or not the board of trade is violating the law to strike at a competitor. If the courts uphold the commission's findings, the board will yield rather than close its doors for 60 days.

BUILD THE SEAWAY FIRST.

Indefinite postponement of any plans to construct the proposed Nicaraguan canal, as a second water link between the Atlantic and Pacific, is a logical outcome of events during the last three years. Yet there is no doubt that the United States some day will build this canal to supplement the interoceanic channel through Panama.

When Congress ordered a survey of the Nicaraguan route three years ago there was no thought of immediately constructing a new canal. Congress wanted to have the facts on hand so that it could act intelligently when the time came for active discussion of the proposed Nicaraguan project and of increasing the capacity of the Panama canal. Those facts have been supplied. The United States has acquired the right to build a canal across Nicaragua, and that development can be carried out whenever it becomes necessary.

The State Department lists three reasons why the project should not be undertaken at this time: First, world trade does not warrant the expansion. Commerce on the high seas has shrunk as much as has local business. In 1929 when engineers were predicting that the new canal would be needed within 15 or 20 years, the outlook was quite different than it is today. Traffic through the canal may be expected to increase when normal times are restored, but that growth will not be so rapid as was forecast a few years ago.

Second, the necessity for economy precludes the inauguration of a $720,000,000 project which is not yet needed. From a business point of view, the new canal should be constructed only when the Panama channel is no longer adequate to handle the available traffic. As a third reason for laying the Nicaraguan enterprise on the shelf, the State Department points out that the capacity of the Panama canal can be increased 50 per cent without great expense.

At present the St. Lawrence seaway is of far more importance to the United States than the Nicaraguan canal. Even when the canal is built it will handle only a small part of American commerce. But the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway will open up a vast territory in the heart of the United States to direct world commerce. The Government does well to concentrate attention on the St. Lawrence project. There will be ample time to consider the Nicaraguan canal when the Great Lakes waterway has been completed.

THE HITLER MENACE.

This week will be one of suspense for the nations of Europe while anxiously awaiting the results of the German election to be held next Sunday. If the Hitlerites secure control of the Reichstag, anything may happen. Many competent observers fear that success for the Nazis is inevitable. Whether the election results in an immediate clash with the reactionaries now in control, many of whom are even talking and planning for a restoration of the monarchy, or whether the Hitler forces are allowed to assume control and attempt to put into effect their extreme measures, the possibilities for trouble are many.

The rapid growth of Hitler's strength, as shown at all recent elections, supports the belief that a majority of the German people are determined to give his radical ideas a trial. Many of his promises are too wild for fulfillment and attempted enforcement of them would precipitate trouble at home as well as international complications. The Nazis do not comprise a coherent, organized following made up of believers in fixed principles or ideals; they are the discontented and discouraged members of every class who are ready to try anything however visionary and give ear to any sophistries promising the impossible.

Fascism is a misnomer for Hitlerism. It is a mistake to consider the Nazi leader another Mussolini. He is more accurately characterized as a successful agitator. Yet the problems which confront Hitler would test a super-Mussolini's powers, since to national difficulties, much more serious than Italy faced, are added many international disputes. Hitler has promised to reduce interest rates, to initiate anti-banking and anti-Semitic measures. He promises to restore the Polish corridor to Germany and to unite Austria and Germany. The first move would be resisted by Poland, the second by Czechoslovakia and both these nations would be supported by France.

The advent of Hitlerism would spell the doom of all present hopes for the financial rehabilitation of Germany. The flight of the mark would be intensified and foreign capital would certainly avoid further investments. If the Nazis reach a position in which they can attempt to carry out their threats of strong-arm measures against their neighbors, there is every probability that they will precipitate reprisals from combined opposition with which Germany would be powerless to cope. Both in local reforms and foreign policies, Hitler has promised immeasurably more than he can possibly deliver.

Once in authority Hitler's troubles would come more quickly from his own followers than from the opposition. Composed as the Nazis are of every class and political element, not only revolutionaries, but Communists, capitalists, monarchists, soldiers and laborers, their sole bond is opposition to the present form of government. They have nothing in common when it comes to constructive steps and they would be too impatient for immediate benefits to await the slow processes of recovery. If Hitler could come to power with the support of a homogeneous party with fixed principles, he would find difficulty in working out a program; if he gets the chance to rule Germany through the backing of his present motley disciples distress and turmoil would be inevitable.

THE FARM BOARD'S RECORD.

Public attention has been so much centered upon the unsuccessful attempt of the Farm Board to stabilize the prices of wheat and cotton that the primary purpose in creating the board has almost been lost to sight. An address by Representative Colton, of Utah, inserted in the last edition of the Congressional Record, brings to the fore the fundamental work of the board, which is having a profound effect upon agricultural marketing.

The Farm Board has been performing for agriculture much the same service that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is rendering to banks and industry. More than $350,000,000 has been lent to cooperatives in which at least 250,000 farmers are members. This money has not only kept the cooperatives in operation, but it has induced commercial banks to extend a much greater volume of credit to farm organizations. As a result not a single major cooperative has failed during the last three years. In view of the numerous bank and business failures this is a remarkable record.

A great deal of the board's work has been devoted to the organization of farm cooperatives, improvement of marketing methods and coordination of local and national farm marketing groups. One-third of all the farmers of the country are now members of cooperative associations. These groups handled business amounting to $2,400,000 last year. Cooperative marketing of all products has increased 41 per cent since the Farm Board was organized.

Likewise the board has assisted in the development of national cooperatives for handling special commodities. Such agencies as the American Cotton Corporation and the Farmers' National Grain Corporation provide complete marketing service for their members in every important market here and abroad. Under the guidance of the board, farmers have acquired more control over their markets and paved the way for more orderly and profitable distribution of agricultural commodities.

This is the work for which the Farm Board was organized. Its experiment in price stabilization was incidental to the principal business of organizing farmers and training them to manage their own affairs according to modern business methods. Fortunately the board has almost disposed of its wheat holdings and is gradually liquidating the cotton surplus. Assurance has been given that the board will not again undertake to stabilize prices by buying up surplus commodities while there is no check upon production. When the stabilization chapter in its record has been definitely closed, the public will be forced to recognize the Farm Board's extensive achievements in the promotion of orderly marketing.

VETERAN BENEFITS.

The spectacular agitation in the Capital for the payment of the bonus and the indefensible campaign in Congress which was responsible for the siege of Washington by misguided veterans may serve to bring about results very different from those desired by the legislative and soldier advocates of additional payments to service men. The wide publicity that the whole question of war benefits has received during recent months has aroused the nation to a realization that there must be a check to payments now made for disability not resulting from war service.

Americans serving in the world war were, of course, not as numerous as the soldiers of France, England or Germany, yet this country is paying out to its former soldiers more this year than all three European nations combined, though United States participation in the war was only about one-third as long. In England, for example, the peak of war payments was reached in 1922. British expenditures are decreasing to the extent of $15,000,000 a year, with something like 50,000 fewer pensioners annually.

In the United States quite the reverse is true. The number of beneficiaries constantly grows larger. An utterly unwarranted expansion was made when compensation was provided for veterans who never suffered war disabilities. The men drawing pay for injury or illness that had not the remotest connection with service, either at home or abroad, now number more than the total American casualties in the war.

Veteran benefits now disbursed annually amount to nearly one-fourth of the Federal budget. It is readily computed that within twenty years, as the former soldiers reach the age of increasing disability, the demands upon the Treasury will reach $2,000,000,000 a year. The nation has made generous provision for all soldiers injured in the war and for the dependents of those killed. The opening of hospitalization and pension benefits to all classes, regardless of service, is an unwarranted drain upon taxpayers. Many veterans themselves have realized the injustice of payments that total more than $400,000,000 a year. In the present necessity for retrenchment in all lines of governmental expenditure the revision of certain disbursements to veterans is one that may be forced by public opinion.

Congressmen who are really ambitious will attend the Los Angeles Olympiad and gather tips on hurdle jumping, treading water and sprinting.

Abbe Dimnet writes an article entitled "The Sobriety of M. Herriot," but he throws no light on the wet and dry question.

The Democratic national convention has hardly adjourned before another gigantic beer plot has been unearthed in Chicago.

FLORENZ ZIEGFELD

From the New York Times.

A quality of showmanship as hard to define as personality distinguished Florenz Ziegfeld. Every one who often witnessed the series of entertainments which made him famous felt the "difference," but it was not easy to name it. He has received and deserved credit as the originator of a special kind of extravaganza, but a mere adaptation of French or German girls-and-music shows is not true creation. Ziegfeld's real touch of genius lay deeper than slogans and cleverness. To his patrons and fellow-producers his trick of combining a grand conglomeration of girls, comedians, feathers, spangles and satins may have appeared nothing more than a trick—but an attempted imitation was enough to reveal what talent it took.

If his productions were, on the whole, florid and lavish, they had also their moments of delicacy. They came nearer to transporting an adult audience to an unreal, charming fairyland than anything since the vivid shows of childhood. His best had a special magic about it, apparently inimitable. It did not come from careful selection of lovely girls and luxurious curtains. Other producers have an eye for beauty and as much money for gilt furniture and velvets. Others work as conscientiously, keep as close an eye on every detail, live as completely in the theater. But no one has the touch peculiar to the master of the "Follies." It was a subtle but quite recognizable characteristic. Any one who has gone regularly to the theater in New York for the last twenty years would almost certainly be able to identify a Ziegfeld show without looking at the program or knowing what theater he was in.

It has been said that humor was too often lacking in his shows. Perhaps they did not strike sparks of wit, but they offered some of the funniest comedians of the last two decades. Much of their laughter was evoked by sheer nonsense. For every two or three genuinely brilliant bits of mimicry there were dozens of scenes with a sense of play and cheerful witlessness. People loved the childlike quality of the fun which blended so well with the atmosphere of fantastic setting. Call it taste, charm, or what you will, every Ziegfeld production bore the stamp of an individuality which will be missed on every Broadway in the country.

A PROTEAN PERFORMER.

Members of the Anglo-American colony in Vienna were recently invited to hear a performance of "Othello," given entirely by one man, M. Ernst Reinhold. Not only were the several parts played by the performer himself, says the Christian Science Monitor, but the whole play was delivered from memory without any prompter. M. Reinhold, who is a Shakespeare enthusiast, had previously given proof of his remarkable memory by rendering two other Shakespeare plays in the same way.

He's Got It Again.

POST HASTE.

Apparently Senator Borah has lost none of his cunning in selecting a position in which he can stand alone.

Gov. Roosevelt's new book advocates tariffs on wheat and cotton. His keynoter favored prohibitive duties on coal and oil. By dividing other products among Democratic leaders, protection is made a personal rather than party policy.

M. Flandin says the tariff did not protect America from unemployment. It protected labor against still greater unemployment that didn't happen.

The world might as well take it easy for a week. If the Hitlerites win in the German elections next Sunday all conference results will be scrapped and all bets off.

The American Federation of Labor says: "The spirit of panic is dying down" and the Associated Press reports that "the widest gain was made in agricultural prices." Is it possible we are starting out of the depression without free silver, doles or pork bills?

Young Jimmy Roosevelt has been put in charge of the trial balloon department. Two exploded yesterday at low altitudes—a hypothetical anti-Volstead special session if papa wins, and a fake Republican preelection stock market boom.

Senator Borah may be the advance guard of debt cancellation, but his following is too far behind to be visible.

Post haste from London comes the report that Ambassador Mellon will resign his post. It is not incredible that a man of his years should want to put on his long pants for all day.

During a vacation from the White House French Strother wrote a novel—"Maid of Athens." It's all Greek, compared with his executive right-hand manuscripts.

European nations made no move to cancel reparations until Germany told them she could not and would not pay, but they now expect Uncle Sam to rush out spontaneously and sprinkle them with confetti consisting of the torn fragments of their war-debt notes.

Considering the feverish weather, the trade doctors say it is encouraging that the business pulse remains steady.

Mr. Farley will pardon the country at large if it cogitates a bit on why his hardest fight for the Governor of New York is the conquest of New York.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

WHY?

"Why is the factory closed down?"
A youngster asked his dad
As they were strolling through the town.
"Because the times are bad."
The troubled father made reply.
But still the small boy questioned:
"Why?"

"Why are the times so bad?" said he.
"Why don't the wheels go 'round?
They made such pretty things to see.
Why don't the hammers pound?
Why aren't the men at work today?
What's wrong with business anyway?"

"There is no work for men to do,"
The father sadly said.
"And little boys and girls like you
Go hungry oft to bed.
And there will be no jobs for men
Till people start to spend again."

Again the youngster questioned:
"Why?"
The father said: "My son,
Unless the people start to buy
No factory can run.
And these sad times will never end
Till men grow brave enough to spend."

Doctors Would Seldom Be Useful If They Served Only the Wise

By ROBERT QUILLEN

HAVE you heard some reference to "the deserving poor?"

Have you heard some self-righteous snob confess: "I don't mind helping them if they are worthy?"

Who are these deserving poor worthy of help? Obviously they are nice people, reduced to poverty through no fault of their own.

They are not foolish or careless or wasteful; they are free of expensive vices; they have prudence and foresight.

Such faultless people truly deserve help, but where can you find any such in need of it?

There are none. Poverty is a misfortune, but it befalls the unwise, the spendthrift, the sinful and the improvident—ordinary people, no better and no worse than the well-to-do and the rich.

Who are you to ask whether they are deserving?

You are not called upon to minister to their deserts but to their needs.

A foolish and unrighteous man whose stomach is empty is just as hungry as a wise and virtuous man in the same plight.

Charity does not feed him because it approves his morals but because it pities his hunger.

If you feed none but the "worthy" poor, you will feed none at all. It is their need that makes them deserving of help—not their freedom from faults.

Are you more worthy to give than they are to receive? If all of your secret sins and follies and immoralities were recorded and the complete story revealed in the public prints tomorrow, would the "deserving poor" be willing to accept alms at your hands?

There are few perfect people, in want or in affluence. Those who receive are like those who give—human and wasteful and weak.

If all of us had practiced rigid economy and hoarded our savings during the boom, few would be in want now. But that isn't the American way of living. We spend freely and spending makes prosperity.

It is too late now to make reproaches. Those in need deserve help because of their need. Hunger can not be asked to justify itself.

When Christian lands do good to none but the worthy and the deserving, who will minister to the distant heathen?

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Gov. Roosevelt and the Seaway.
Minneapolis Journal.

As was foreseen here in the Northwest, New York State is moving to block ratification of the St. Lawrence seaway treaty.

Gov. Roosevelt's newly created State Power Authority professes to be alarmed at the possibility that New York will be called upon to contribute a share of construction costs commensurate with the worth of the volume of water power that will be at New York's disposal. The point is made that this will ditch New York's plans to sell this power to its own citizens at far less than actual value in the competitive market.

New York's case is a manifestly weak one. It has been understood right along that the seaway's prime purpose was to be transportation, and that the incidental power developed would be sold at the best possible terms, in order to lower the net cost of the project to the taxpayers. New York, now seeking to upset this understanding, would have the power disposed of on terms that were the least advantageous to the Federal taxpayers and the most advantageous to her own consumers of electricity.

Revenue Declines.
Chicago Tribune.

The Federal fiscal year of 1932, ended June 30, showed a decrease of $870,000,000 in internal revenue. The loss in income tax receipts was $813,000,000. The rate of taxation was the same as the year before. The incomes had disappeared. Miscellaneous taxes are derived from the use of taxable articles. The decrease in use, another indication of reduced earnings, contributed the remainder of the loss to the Treasury. The comparison is with the preceding year of 1931, which was regarded by the country at the time as a bad year. Evidently no one knew the half of it. The next twelve months was to make it known.

On Hustings an' Before "Mike."
Detroit News.

And yet, all the adjournment of Congress signifies is that the parties' publicity departments must find other quarters.

Campaign Flimflam.
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

If the presidential campaign becomes drab and uninteresting, it will not be the fault of David Sherman Beach, of Bridgeport, Conn. Beach modestly describes himself in his campaign literature as "the most progressive man in the world" and "the last survivor of the big three, Washington, Lincoln and Beach," and he is going to be in the thick of it. His People's National Independent party has magnificent plans and cures for all our ills. For instance: A 50-billion-dollar bond issue, without interest, to end the depression; abolition of governors and State laws; a Cabinet of 60 members; a new Congress of 343 directors and 343 senators (already chosen and all pastors); full collection of war debts; full payment of veterans' claims. Beside these grandiose conceptions, the platforms of the major parties and even the radical minorities are as depressing as dishwater. If the election is to be won on campaign promises, Beach is as good as inaugurated.

Selling Cancellation Ideas.
Cincinnati Enquirer.

There is every prospect that we shall continue to hear much of the proposal of foreign governments to cancel their obligations to us. Perhaps it will be news to some of us that already we have canceled a large portion of those debts.

Further cancellation would result in the tax-paying public of this country assuming this burden. Europe invites them to do so on the ground of world recovery, stimulus to trade, and the benefit of private lenders to continental countries.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Bonus Army Has Violated Rules of Hospitality, Says Mr. Fox, and Should Now Go Home.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The "bonus marchers" have overstayed their welcome. Not that they have been at any time welcome additions to the population or the problems of the District of Columbia. But the people of the District, recognizing the constitutional right of citizens of the United States "peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances," have thus far endured their presence with extraordinary patience.

As a benevolent-minded householder might admit to his home, though unvited, a "poor relation" who comes to town upon some necessitous quest of his own, the people of the District have fed and sheltered these people of political kinship, so far as practicable and necessary, to prevent suffering. The involuntary host has not been inhospitable to the voluntary and demanding guest.

But the laws of hospitality, which our people have not disregarded, require also observance by the guest. The guest must comply with rules of the household and not put undue burden upon the family, else even an invited guest will be shown the door.

Our present guests have for many weeks been ignoring the rules of our house. They have lived in a way to threaten the family health. They have interfered with the family servants, sometimes keeping them up all night. They have invaded the places where the necessary business of the household is carried on and even that part of the house to which members of the family itself are not admitted without permission. And they have done this by massing together in manner which, by their very numbers and demeanor, threatens the peace of the family.

Although the purported object of their visit has definitely failed, leaving no reason for their continued presence here, they refuse to depart, even when the expenses of their homeward journey are offered to them. On the contrary, they insolently threaten to violate still more seriously the rules and peace of the family, while claiming all the privileges of guests.

The "bonus marchers" can no longer invoke the laws of hospitality, which they have forfeited, nor warrant of the Constitution, which they never had. For the right "peaceably to assemble" does not cover assemblage—in time, place or manner—in defiance of the laws and ordinances which regulate all assemblies, by everybody. Even the threatened "passive resistance" is such defiance, since force must be employed if lawful conduct can not be obtained without actual or potential force.

Patience has reached its limit. No other community would have dealt so tenderly with an organized invasion of more than 20,000 nonresidents. It is time for the marchers to say "Good-by—and thank you."

DUANE E. FOX.

Favors a Five-Day Week for All Government Employes—Recalls Fight for Saturday Half-Holiday.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It seems to me that the most important question before the Government employes at this time is the five-day week and not the one and one-quarter days' pay, which our envelopes lacked on July 15. The shorter work week will mean that the available jobs will go round.

Many of us seem to see only the effect of the five-day week as applied to shortening our vacations this year. What about next year when the permanent clause establishing the fifteen-days annual leave becomes effective? With four week-ends of two days each we could take 23 days consecutive leave. Most of the departments are going to be compelled to give an additional payless furlough, so all may get more of a vacation this year than we want.

It seems selfish and thoughtless, not to establish the five-day week when we have the opportunity. They say opportunity only knocks once in a life-time. I hate to see it pass by now, for Government employes may sit out the five and one-half day week for many years, while industry elsewhere has a five or even a four-day week. We should remember how difficult it was to get our year-round half-day Saturday, which we have had only a little over a year!

Here is hoping that Secretary Mills will be able to close his great establishment just as well on Saturdays as on Sundays and make special arrangements for small sections that can not possibly be closed on Saturday.

Two days a week of fresh air and sunshine for greater efficiency and health, and a great saving in operating costs by closing the buildings!

TREASURY EMPLOYE.

Bonus Army Situation Shows Wisdom of Retaining Absolute Federal Control of District.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: With hundreds of bonus sojourners sprawling asleep in broad daylight in the parks in the center of the city and with the possibility that the President may be subjected to the indignity of bonus pickets at the White House, I begin to see the wisdom of denying suffrage to the District of Columbia. We have already seen a dangerous conflict of authority between Federal officials and the local Police Department. The situation would be much worse if the District had Statehood and State demagogues were free to butt in in case of mob eventualities. As it is, the military discipline of the National Government can preserve order without any great civic disturbance in case of necessity.

But, in the name of decency, I do think that the disgusting spectacle of sprawling sleepers in the ornamental squares and triangles of the city beautiful should not be permitted.

COOLER LATIN AREAS ARE MOST ADVANCED

Jungle Sectors Lag, Though, Clark University Man Tells G. W. U. Class.

South America was described as a continent of contrasting possibilities, in which some portions have advanced tremendously in the past 50 years, while others have no chance of progressing, by Prof. Clarence F. Jones, of Clark University, at the conference on Hispanic Affairs of George Washington University yesterday.

Regions which possess possibilities for great advance under present conditions of civilization and science, according to Prof. Jones, include: The pampas of Argentina, the plains of Uruguay, the highlands of southern Brazil, the valley of central Chile, and the subtropical portions of the Cordilleya.

The areas with little possibility for advance include the hot, humid lowlands, most of the savanna regions and the high Andes, making up almost half of the continent, Prof. Jones said.

Retrogression of these areas was ascribed by the lecturer to the heat and humidity of the lowlands, the rapid growth of vegetation, the vast areas of swamp, and a scourge of diseases and insects.

Factors which have aided the great advance in the favorable portions of South America are the increasing stability of government, foreign investments totaling billions of dollars, and the great number of immigrants which have entered these areas, Prof. Jones declared.

He said that no great industrial regions have been developed, and perhaps will not be, because most of the minerals produced are alkaline and are moved to the iron and coal regions of the world for fabrication. South America lacks the basic materials for great industrial development, he pointed out.

Prof. Jones will lecture again today. The conference will also hear, as guest speaker, Dr. Spencer Vampre, eminent Brazilian scholar and professor at the State Law School in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

CANADA'S BARGAINING AT PARLEY IS BEGUN

tations of anthracite, which is now largely supplied by the United States. In 1931 the United States shipped in 2,230,000 tons, the only competitor being Wales with 870,000 tons.

In general, the Canadian list contains commodities not produced on a large scale in the Dominion and from which the conference might select articles for British preference without materially disturbing employment here.

These items, it was said, are not necessarily to be offered free trade status, but certain of them may be selected as articles with which to bargain for preferential treatment of Canadian products in British markets.

Sharing interest with the Canadian list was a suggestion for remonetization of silver and a super empire bank.

The importance with which many delegates view the currency question was indicated by Sir Atul Chatterjee, of India, who said: "Let me emphasize that India regards the monetary problem as one of vital and urgent importance."

In the conversations among the delegates thus far, much has been said about the United Kingdom as the greatest purchaser within the empire and the greatest lender of money to the dominions. Delegates have been told the purchasing power of the empire is only 50 per cent of normal because there are 3,000,000 unemployed in Great Britain, because Britain has been receiving small return on foreign investments, and because commodity values in the dominions are low.

With those facts in mind, the delegates have been getting at grips with the trade aspirations peculiar to the different nations of the empire. They realize it is improbable they will get as many products on the duty free list or the lower tariff basis as they wish to get.

Canada imports from the United States most of such raw materials as sugar, cotton, iron ore and coal, but 66 per cent of her total imports from below the border are manufactured goods, compared with 90 per cent of the total Canadian imports from the United Kingdom.

Excluding imports of alcoholic beverges valued at $40,000,000 annually, the average Canadian tariff against American imports is 14 per cent higher than against imports from the United Kingdom. At the general rate assessed on nonempire products, Canada in the fiscal year of 1931 would have collected $29,000,000 customs on the products of the United Kingdom instead of the $15,000,000 the treasury received.

The total trade of Canada with the United States for the year ended March 31, 1932, amounted to only $596,037,689, compared with $1,384,130,218 in 1930. Imports were $351,686,775, compared with $847,442,037 in 1930, and exports were $244,350,864, compared with $536,688,181.

IRISH TARIFF IS PUT ON BRITISH IMPORTS

by Great Britain. The British tariff was levied when the Free State defaulted in land annuities due the Bank of England.

Of all the duties published today only those on pigs, meat and potatoes will affect all countries.

Against Great Britain was levied a 20 per cent ad valorem rate on iron and steel and their manufactures, agement and electrical apparatus.

Heavy levies also are made on coal, pigs, meat, sausages and sugar products, and the importation of cheese is prohibited.

The duties become effective tomorrow.

In a number of cases the produce of Northern Ireland is excepted from the tariffs. The brief list of British articles affected virtually abolishes empire preferences so far as Britain is concerned.

FAIR PRICES PREVAIL AT WOODLAND BEACH

The Post Offers Summer Home Sites at Ideal Spot for Rest and Pleasure.

In these days of bargain prices for everything, there is the opportunity of a lifetime awaiting those who for years have been moaning because they had no place to go when summer arrived. The Washington Post is offering residents of the Capital that opportunity through Woodland Beach, a summer home development on the South River in Maryland.

First of all, the price is right for lots at Woodland Beach. So reasonable are these prices that a down payment of $9 together with the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post will reserve a lot for anyone. The remainder may then be paid off in monthly instalments of $3.50. Is there anything fairer than that?

Second, Woodland Beach offers just what everyone wants in the way of summer recreation. It has bathing, boating and fishing to attract those who like to spend their leisure hours on or in the water. For those who just want a cottage in which to lounge around or entertain friends, the beach is full of fine sites, with shade trees and opportunities for lovely lawns.

More than 200 cottages and summer homes have sprung up in this delightful development since it was opened last year. Many more property owners there are planning to build. But there are still a number of choice locations available for those who want to get in on the ground floor while the price is right. A visit to the beach any Saturday or Sunday or a call at The Washington Post will enable you to learn full details of this splendid offer.

Woodland Beach is reached over fine roads via Defense highway to Camp Parole, turning right on Maryland State Highway No. 2 across South River and then left on Mayo road which leads directly to the clubhouse on the property.

ALEXANDRIA TO VIEW BOND BIDS THURSDAY

Red Bus Line Will Establish Service in First Ward at Present Fare.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Bids will be opened Thursday by the city council of Alexandria for the issue of $150,000 4¼ per cent, 33-year bonds, dated August 1, 1932, which were authorized by the council on June 30, the proceeds of which will be used to pay outstanding obligations. The bids will be opened in the council chamber in the City Hall at noon, and the highest bidder will be awarded the bonds.

The plan for redemption of the bonds is as follows: Three $1,000 and one $500 bond on August 1 of each year from 1933 to 1964, inclusive, and four $1,000 and four $500 bonds on August 1, 1965.

City Manager Wallace Lawrence has prepared a pamphlet setting forth the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the city, which shows that the indebtedness prior to this bond issue was $1,983,300, from which must be deducted a sinking and trust fund of $237,247, leaving a net indebtedness of $1,746,053, or, after adding the new issue, $1,896,053. The taxable real property of Alexandria amounts to approximately $20,000,000, and the city is authorized by law to issue bonds not to exceed 18 per cent of this amount, or $3,600,000, so that this bond issue brings the indebtedness of the city to slightly over one-half the amount authorized by law. Alexandria, according to Mayor Edmund F. Ticer, is, therefore, in a better financial condition than any other city in Virginia.

It is anticipated that the high bid for the bonds will be at par, if not slightly higher.

Robert L. May, owner and operator of the A., B. & A. Rapid Transit Co., known as the Red Bus Line, has announced that he will immediately establish bus service in the First Ward of Alexandria, to take the place of that operated by the Blue Line, which discontinued operations at midnight Saturday night.

The route of this service will be from the bus stand on South Royal street to Duke street, east on Duke to Lee street, south to Franklin, west to Fairfax street, north to King, thence along the present route.

In observance of the 157th anniversary of the establishment of postal service, the city postoffice of Alexandria will keep open house from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. today, with Postmaster F. Clinton Knight as host. The public has been invited.

Harry E. Butcher, vice president of the Old Dominion Broadcasting Corporation, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon of the Alexandria Rotary Club in the George Mason Hotel today. He is the Washington manager of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and will be in charge of the radio station which will succeed Station WJSV, as a subsidiary of the Columbia system.

Miss Lucy M. Graves, Alexandria chairman of the Tribune fresh-air committee, has announced that the children assigned to Alexandria for the annual outing sponsored by that organization will arrive at the Alexandria Union Station at 1:52 p. m. today, and those who will entertain the children are expected to meet them at the station.

Those Alexandrians who will care for the children from the New York tenements, to give them the advantages of at least two weeks in an American home with sufficient food and the environment they would otherwise not experience, are: Miss Lucy Graves, Mrs. J. Frank Carlin, Mrs. Bertha V. Young, Mrs. J. C. Parrott, Mrs. James Noble, the Rev. H. W. Van Couenhoven, Mrs. Leo P. Harlow, Mrs. Harry Kirk, Mrs. W. E. Broaddus and Mrs. C. G. Alley.

Burglars yesterday morning made an unsuccessful attempt to break into the drug store of J. E. W. Timberman, at King and Washington streets. Detective Sergt. Edgar Sims, who investigated, found that a window on the Washington street side of the store had been broken, and a jimmy used to force it open. The burglars, apparently, were frightened away and did not enter.

Hyattsville Street Levies Approved

Wine Avenue Assessments Held Up on Protest by Property Owners.

Assessments against abutting property owners on six Hyattsville streets which have recently been improved were approved by the town council last night, but the assessments on Wine avenue were held up after they had been protested.

Holding that the property owners were being improperly charged with the cost of the new account books and title-searching, Charles W. Clagett protested against the Wine avenue assessments. He appeared for himself as well as for Dr. Raymond A. Pearson and Otway B. Zantzinger. The division of the cost of improving this street will be decided at a special council meeting on August 1.

Aroused by the fatal accident on the Baltimore boulevard near the home of Mayor Lemuel L. Gray Sunday night, the council decided to ask State police authorities to detail a policeman with an automobile to catch speeders in the town.

The average automobile can be driven 300 miles at 40 miles an hour at the same cost of driving 100 miles at 60 miles an hour, according to the Chicago Motor Club. An investigation, the club announced, shows that oil consumption at 55 miles an hour is seven times greater than it is at 30 miles an hour and tire wear is doubled from 40 to 50 miles an hour. Gasoline consumption is increased by 25 per cent when the rate is raised from 30 to 55 miles an hour.

U. S. OFFICIALS ACCUSE PIT

of the Chicago Board of Trade * * * are calculated to mislead the public as to the situation."

As this statement was issued, Peter Carey, the board president, was telling traders in the wheat pit "No cause for alarm" existed. He also was mapping out against the suspension a court fight that will challenge constitutionality of the grain futures law.

The suspension order followed a complaint that the Farmers' National Grain Corporation—largest cooperative sponsored by the Farm Board—had been denied clearing house privileges.

Yesterday's statement, issued through Attorney General Mitchell's office, discussed in detail the legal procedure involved in administering the futures act.

"It is hardly to be expected," the commission said, "that the Board of Trade would choose to suspend business rather than obey a court decision sustaining the right of the Farmers' National to membership.

"Statements reported in the press to have been made by the president of the Chicago Board of Trade respecting the possible effect on the grain trade of a suspension of the operations of the Chicago Board of Trade as a result of the recent decision of the commission under the grain futures act are calculated to mislead the public as to the situation.

Need Not Be Suspended.

"The officers of the board of trade and their lawyers know quite well that in the end the operations of the board need not be suspended. If they are making any public statements on the subject, they should reassure the grain trade instead of creating uneasiness by statements as to the injurious effects of suspension of the board's operations.

"It is to be hoped that the board's president, to discredit the administration of the law, or to satisfy antagonism, has not gone so far as to make unfounded predictions creating business uneasiness."

"Congress has provided," the statement said, "that grain exchanges must allow farmers' cooperative associations of producers full privileges of trading on such exchanges on compliance with certain conditions. The commission after a hearing found on the facts and the law that the Chicago Board of Trade had illegally denied trading privileges to the Farmers National Grain Corporation.

Commission's Alternatives.

"Congress has directed that in such case the commission shall do one of two things, i. e., either permanently terminate the operations of the board of trade or suspend its operations for not exceeding six months. The act of Congress would have appeared less drastic if, instead of providing for penalties, it had provided merely for a commission order requiring the board of trade to grant membership to the grain cooperative, with power in the courts to enforce the order by mandatory injunction. However, for practical purposes, the result is the same.

"The law allows an appeal by the board of trade to the courts to review the commission's order, and if appeal is taken, the order does not become effective unless sustained by the final decision of the courts. If the courts set aside the order, the operations of the Chicago Board of Trade would not be interrupted.

"On the other hand, if the courts sustain the commission and hold that the Farmers' National Grain Corporation is entitled to membership, it is to be assumed that the board of trade will bow to the conclusion of the courts and grant full trading privileges to the Farmers' National and thus open the way to an application by the board of trade to the commission to mitigate the penalty. Provision for such an application is made in the commission's decision."

GRAIN FUTURES ACT WILL BE ATTACKED

board of trade attorneys were busy drafting a petition to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals challenging the constitutionality of the grain futures act and attempting to set aside the penalty of 60 days' shutdown. The court action will be taken probably by Wednesday.

Carey assured the members in an address from the rostrum that "No cause for alarm" existed. Even if the appellate court, after full hearing, should rule against the board of trade it would go before the Supreme Court for relief.

The trade laid some of the blame for a slight reaction in grain prices today to uneasiness over the threatened suspension, but the close, after an early advance, was at no great loss from Saturday's prices.

The grain futures act of 1922 vests in the Secretary of Agriculture control of the Nation's grain exchanges. To obtain a permit as a "contract market," a grain exchange must, among other requirements, grant full privileges to cooperative associations.

Upon this hinges the dispute between the board of trade and the Farmers National Grain Corporation, whence came the suspension order.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 25 (A.P.).—E. E. McConnell, former president of the Buffalo Corn Exchange and now president of the McConnell Grain Corporation, said today the local grain dealers would offer moral support and cash, if needed, to aid the Chicago Board of Trade in its fight against Federal order closing it for 60 days.

Others recently dismissed are: Mrs. Lorena A. Ellis, deputy clerk, an employe for twelve years, and Mrs. Mary Moore McIntosh, member of the staff for the same period.

The progress of Arlington County will be greatly retarded by remaining under provisions of the Byrd road act, declared Harry A. Fellows, chairman of the county board, speaking at a meeting of the Livingstone Height Civic League in the St. Mary's Episcopal Church last night. "Vote to withdraw and the county can hard-surface the remaining county roads for a total of $93,000," he stated. "There are now already 108.58 miles of county roads hard-surfaced. There are in the county a total of 56.24 miles of roads which have not been taken over by the county and will not be improved by the State."

Hugh Reid, member of the General Assembly of Virginia from Arlington County, urged that the county remain under the provisions of the provisions of the bill, saying the bill's purpose was to save money for the taxpayers of the State and that it will do so.

Other speakers were C. R. Fenwick, who favored the county withdrawing from the act, and Fred A. Gosnell, member of the county board, favoring the county staying within the provisions of the act.

Lieut. Col. C. S. McNeill, U. S. A., retired, has been appointed by the Arlington County School Board as professor of military science and tactics at the Washington-Lee High School at Ballston at a salary of $1,500 a year. In addition to his duties as head of the cadet corps, he will be one of the principals at the school. The appointment was made upon recommendation of County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp.

Alleged Death-Car Driver Rearrested

Matsudaire Is Out on Bond After Coroner's Jury Is Sworn In.

Robert Matsudaire, who was freed yesterday in Hyattsville Police Court on charges of reckless driving, in connection with a fatal automobile crash Sunday night, was rearrested last night on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the same accident.

Matsudaire, who lives in Edmonston, Md., is said to be the driver of a car which struck and killed Charles Christensen, 65, of Hyattsville. He was charged with reckless driving by a State policeman and tried on this charge yesterday before Judge J. Chew Sheriff. No witnesses appeared against him and the charge was dismissed.

Last night Constable Carl M. Blanchard reopened the case and swore out the manslaughter warrant before Magistrate Robert E. Joyce. Matsudaire, who is the son of the former Mayor of Edmonston, was arrested on this charge and released in bond of $2,000. A coroner's jury was also sworn in by Magistrate Joyce and an inquest will be held tomorrow night in Hyattsville. Constable Blanchard has also asked that seven witnesses, discovered by him, be summoned to testify before the coroner's jury.

War Memorial Is Sought By Montgomery Legion

A proposal that the remainder of the American Legion homecoming fund raised in Montgomery County in 1919 be used to erect a war memorial in the county was made last night at the meeting of the Montgomery County Council of the American Legion.

A motion was adopted asking the five legion posts in the county to authorize the county council to use this fund for a memorial to the World War veterans.

Alexandrian Arrested On Woman's Complaint

Charles Boyd, 46 years old, of Alexandria, Va., was arrested by Alexandria police last night and charged with the violation of two city ordinances.

His arrest followed a complaint by Miss Ruth King, of 118 F street southeast. Boyd was released under a bond of $500 on charges of disorderly conduct and keeping a house of ill fame. Police said he advertised massage treatments.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WALTER HAMPDEN, having convinced himself that that legendary El Dorado known as "the road" is neither defunct nor yet insolvent, is preparing for the longest tour he has ever undertaken since becoming an actor-manager. With his three great successes, "Cyrano de Bergerac," "Hamlet" and "Caponsacchi," comprising a distinguished repertoire, he valorously contemplates a season of 35 weeks, which will take him from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore., and from Duluth, Minn., to San Antonio, Tex., with all important cities in between included in the itinerary.

"Caponsacchi" and "Hamlet" will be used in the far West and South in the cities where Mr. Hampden appeared for the first time in "Cyrano" last season, while "Cyrano" will be presented east of the Mississippi in cities that have never seen this thrilling play, with return engagements in Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Chicago and other centers in which the Rostand heroic comedy was played to tremendous business last winter.

Mr. Hampden is moved to this extensive activity by the great success of last season's tour in "Cyrano," and, as usual, will carry his complete metropolitan productions with him—a company of 75 for "Cyrano" and a company of 50 for "Caponsacchi" and "Hamlet."

Irked, no doubt, by the recent imbroglio with Master Cagney, the defection of Miss Ann Dvorak, as a result of too much work and too little of what it takes in the weekly pay envelope, and divers and sundry other contributory causes, Jack L. Warner, in charge of production, and his associate, Darryl Zanuck, have issued the flat fiat that, in future, stars contracted by the combined Warner Brothers-First National studios will have no voice in the selection of stories or screen roles.

However, it is being surreptitiously sotto voced about that George Arliss, Richard Barthelmess, Barbara Stanwyck, Ruth Chatterton and Constance Bennett will continue to have the final voice in choosing their vehicles throughout the term of their present contracts. So what?

Dick Laibert, one of the first of the popular Washington organloguers when he was the regular pipe organist at Loew's Palace, and a frequent guest organist at that house since, is being currently featured at the Brooklyn Paramount Theater, along with Eddie Lowry and Collins & Peterson. I know it's the same one because they misspell his name L-i-e-bert, as usual!

The free classes in swimming and life-saving being conducted at the crystal pool, Glen Echo Park, are under the expert direction of Ben F. Wissner, Bob Varela, John Mayhew and Beverly Carter, who hold more aquatic titles among them than you are apt to find anywhere this side of Los Angeles and the Olympics. If they can't teach you, you'd better do your Weissmullering at home in the bathtub!

After more than a year of inactivity—unless you count research work among the European playhouses—Eva La Gallienne will reopen her Civic Repertory Theater in New York in November. Her first play will be "Liliom," in which she will be supported by Joseph Schildkraut, just as she was when the Theater Guild first produced the Molnar comedy nearly a decade ago.

When you see the marriage ceremony in "Madame Racketeer" at Loew's Fox, you will probably recognize Winter Hall as the officiating clergyman. You don't see much of Mr. Hall these days, but, if you must bring up everything, he was the screen's most important banker, big business man or rich father back in the days, when the imposing Kate Lester was filmdom's most prevalent patrician dowager. Heigh-ho!

It certainly will be lonesome without any stars here in person next week, won't it?

NATS OPEN WESTERN TOUR TODAY, MINUS SPENCER

Lewis Victor As McLeod Is Hurt

Dives From Ring on Attempted Tackle to Lose Bout.

3,000 Watch Bartush and Speers "Steal" Bolling Show.

EVERYTHING—that is, most everything—went wrong at the rassle carnival at Bolling Field last night. And the unfortunate part of it is that about 3,000, the largest crowd yet attracted to one of the aviation field's mat shows, was on hand.

In the first place, the perfectly good summer evening breezes were not used when, because of trouble with the lights, the affair had to be shifted to the gymnasium. Secondly, the first two-out-of-three bout match listed here in some time ended with only one fall being registered; and, thirdly, two of the first three bouts were such poor burlesques that the crowd thought they were funny rather than good, but not quite funny enough to get by.

The last two bouts saved the show, even if the scheduled feature ended in one fall instead of two out of three as listed. In it, Ed (Strangler) Lewis, one of the claimants of the world's championship, defeated George McLeod. The latter put up quite a scrap for a while, but after nineteen minutes, he made a flying tackle, missed his mark, injured himself as he fell out of the ring, and was an easy victim of the veteran when he staggered back into the arena. A series of headlocks finished him. He had to be carried out and he never came back for the second fall.

Bartush and Speers Thrill Fans.

Billy Bartush and Frank Speers, former Georgia Tech grid star, furnished the thrills of the evening. They seemed to have a personal feud to settle, and while they were on the mat, occasionally doling out punishment, both preferred to stand up and slug, and they put up a hot scrap throughout. It ended in a 45-minute draw.

Glenn Munn used his figure four body scissors to dispose of Joe DeVito in six minutes in the only other bout worth mentioning. George Manish appeared to outclass Arthur Dix, yet waited for seventeen minutes before making the spill.

In the curtain-raiser, Biff Middlekauff, former Florida grid star, who failed as a fighter, showed that he is even a worse wrestler. He and a mustached Indian named Fazal Daulu put up a joke contest, which ended in Daulu's favor in three minutes, while the Bull Komar-Masked Marvel affair, which followed, was even more of a joke. The boys yelled before pulled punches reached them, and were so crude in trying to appear rough that the fans jeered practically all the seventeen minutes of its duration.

Starke New Manager Of Federal Unionists

Elmer Starke, flashy first-baseman, was elected manager of the Federal Unionists yesterday at a meeting provided to appoint a successor to Bill Waldenmaier, whom appendicitis placed on the inactive list. Starke, whose election was approved by Luther Steward and Gertrude McNally, officials of the National Federation of Federal Employes, will lead the team today against Agriculture.

Swim Meet Friday In Wardman Pool

The first swimming meet to be held this year in the Wardman Park Hotel pool will be staged Friday night, starting at 8:30 o'clock, it was announced last night by Pete Desjardins, former Olympic title holder and now instructor at the local pool. The meet has been sanctioned by the District A. A. U.

Four events for both men and women are on the program. There will be a 60-yard free stroke, 60-yard breast stroke, 60-yard back stroke, 90-yard medley races and diving events. Desjardins will also give a diving exhibition. A novelty in local meets, a pentathlon, will also be contested.

Suitable trophies will be awarded all prize winners. Entries will close tomorrow night at 6 o'clock with Frank Johnston, at Wardman. The entrance fee is 25 cents.

"Uptown" Medal Annexed by Baer

Plying his trade with Jones-like accuracy, Johnny Baer won the medal in the opening round of the "Uptown" golf tournament, played yesterday over the Rock Creek course. Baer negotiated the hilly 18-hole in 75, going out in 37, and returning in one more stroke.

Ted Burrows, one of the outstanding candidates for the honors, and R. E. Bund tied for second place, with 76 each. Low scores were numerous in the large field. The tournament will continue throughout the week.

SCHAAF WINS BOUT FROM PAULINO

6,000 Boo Contest; No Knockdowns Are Recorded.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN BOWL, New York, July 25 (A. P.).—Burly Ernie Schaaf, Jack Sharkey's personal entry in the heavyweight title lists, belted his way to a fifteen-round decision over Paulino Uscudun tonight in a rough and tumble duel starting a new round of eliminations to determine the present standing of the various heavyweight pretenders.

One of the smallest crowds in Garden heavyweight history, a scant 6,000, all but lost in the vast reaches of the big bowl on Long Island, sat apathetically through the long battle. From the sound of the boos at the end it voted viva voce for the elimination of both warriors.

There were no knockdowns, and aside from free-punching flurries in the ninth, fourteenth and fifteenth rounds, the two bull-chested punchers were content to lock heads like a couple of elephants in a death struggle, plowing up the resin with their feet and massaging each other laboriously about the waists.

Schaaf's Showing Disappoints.

Schaaf, a brawny blond of statuesque build, was distinctly disappointing, as he was earlier this season in winning a close decision from Jack Gross and losing a decision to young Stanley Poreda. He held desperately at times, was content to let the aged Spaniard carry the war to him all the way, and not until the final round did he cut loose with the punching of which his massive arms seemed capable.

Then, with the final bell only three minutes away and the tiny crowd booing both impartially, Ernie cut loose with a two-fisted attack that wobbled Paulino, added to the cuts he had gathered about the eyes, nose and mouth through the earlier sessions, and threatened him with the first knockout of his long career.

The time was too short, however, and Paulino finished erect, though badly shaken and chopped up about the head.

Paulino did his best work in the middle rounds, bobbing inside Schaaf's left hand to wing sweeping left hooks to the head. He hurt Ernie with solid clouts in the ninth, tenth and fourteenth rounds.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Schaaf eight rounds, Paulino five and two even. Schaaf weighed 210, Paulino 198¾.

Barry Wins Decision In New York Debut

Madison Square Garden Bowl, Long Island, N. Y., July 25 (A.P.).—Donald "Red" Barry, young Washington heavyweight, made an impressive New York debut tonight when he won a clean-cut decision over Frankie Simms, veteran Cleveland heavyweight, in the opening six-rounder on the Paulino-Schaaf card.

While there were no knockdowns, and little to enthuse the fans, Barry kept Simms slightly muddled with a clever left and broke up Simms' jabs. The Clevelander tried hard to sneak over a short right smash, but Barry stayed out of reach. Only in the opening round did Simms have any real edge despite his advantage in weight, height and reach.

In the last two rounds Barry took the offensive and chased Simms into a neutral corner, landing heavily with a long left and short right to the chin. Simms was hurt but clinched until his head cleared. The decision was unanimous. Barry weighed 193½ pounds, Simms 207½.

British Team On Scene at Olympics

Squad Is Threat in Races From 400 to 1,500 Meters.

100,000 Will Attend Start of Games on Saturday.

By ALAN GOULD.
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

LOS ANGELES, July 26 (A.P.).—The Union Jack flew a bit more briskly over the Olympic village today as the British track team, captained by the popular Lord David Burghley, added its small but powerful quota to the international assemblage of all-star athletes.

Although the entire British contingent, in all sports, numbers about 80 competitors, the squad arriving today numbered only 19 runners and hurdlers. For the first time in Olympic history, Britain entered no performers in the field events, leaving this feature of the games entirely up to her dominions.

Despite the lack of numbers and a slight epidemic of minor ailments, the British track forces, accompanied by their South African and New Zealand allies, numbered threats in the feature races, from 400 to 1,500 meters, as well as in the hurdles, Lord Burghley's specialty.

Quarter-Mile Star Reported Fit.

The titled British leader, holder of the Olympic 400-meter hurdles championship, reported Lieut. Godfrey Rampling, quarter-mile ace, had recovered completely from a pulled leg muscle that kept him out of the English championships, but that R. H. Thomas, 1,500 hope, was troubled with a strained Achilles tendon, and Reid, Scotch sprint star, also was bothered by a muscle strain.

"I'm just a young fellow myself, only 27, you know," smiled the slim, pink-cheeked young nobleman, "but I have seen enough of competition not to make any predictions. Somehow we Britishers have done pretty well in the middle distances. We miss fellows like Liddell and Douglas Lowe, of course, but we have some good men and I surely hope we can take back one gold medal to show for our efforts. Our times in the tryouts and championships don't mean very much.

Have Heard About Carr, Eastman.

"Yes, we have heard all about Carr and Eastman doing such great things in the quarter. You know, our British record is only 48.3 for the 440 yards, but we manage now and then to win a race.

"What do I hope to do? Well, have a good time and do my best. This is my fifth trip to the United States and I have always had good competition, I have entered the high hurdles as well as the 400, which comes first, and I might run on the 1,600-meter relay team, too."

The British delegation was one of a group of more than 250 athletes moving into the Olympic village today. The newcomers included 150 from Canada, 58 from Hungary, 11 men and 2 women from South Africa and 9 men and 2 women from Austria.

Rush for Tickets Unabated.

Tonight sixteen members of the United States boxing team will arrive from San Francisco. Spain, Portugal, Cuba and Lithuania are the only nations of the 38 competing in the athletic events not represented.

Meanwhile Olympic headquarters reported no abatement in the ticket boom, with the swimming finals already a sell-out, and a majority of pasteboards sold for most of the other feature events over the two weeks of international athletic competition. The opening ceremony this Saturday is expected to attract more than 100,000 to the Olympic stadium and also be a sell-out.

Olympic Fund $100,000 Short; East Is Blamed

Los Angeles, July 25 (U.P.).—An emergency appeal for contribution of $100,000, needed to insure a full representation in the Olympic games and thus preserve America's chances of victory, was made today to wealthy Los Angeles citizens by Mayor John C. Porter.

Mayor Porter, honorary chairman of the finance committee, in warning that the United States may lose the championship, blamed "Eastern apathy" for an existing $100,000 shortage in the United States games budget of $250,000.

He addressed a form letter to several hundred "public-spirited leaders of the city" in a last-minute campaign to prevent a reduction in the American team personnel.

Mayor Porter's letter warned that "the shadow of bitter defeat rests upon the American Olympic team not because the American competitive spirit does not flame as before but for lack of financial support. Los Angeles must raise $100,000 by Wednesday."

30 Boxing and Wrestling Bouts at Stadium Tonight

Walker and Berg on Benefit Card for Ill Children.

A FAIR break from the weather man is all that is needed to give Washington sports enthusiasts a monster boxing and wrestling carnival tonight at Griffith Stadium. Admission will be free.

The carnival will consist of more than 30 bouts with both amateurs and professionals participating and will be for the benefit of the Children's Health Farm of the Volunteers of America at Ammendale, Md.

Mickey Walker, Vince Dundee, Jackie "Kid" Berg, Buster Brown, Sylvan Bass and other topnotchers of the professional ring are all due to make appearances in exhibitions. Their opponents will not be known until a short time before they enter the ring.

Staff Capt. Arthur Wise, regional commander of the Volunteers, announced last night that Joe Turner, local promoter, has volunteered two wrestling attractions for the carnival.

In one of these Joe himself will meet George Cochran, and in the other Dutch Green will try to throw George Kiatti.

Nineteen amateur bouts on the card will bring together the best of the local boys representing the American Legion, Walter Reed Hospital, Grove A. C., Goodacre A. C., Jewish Community Center, Y. M. C. A. and other sports groups.

Maj. Heinie Miller, who matched the local entries, believes he has a stellar card.

Jimmy Lake, as master of ceremonies, has a number of attractions in addition to the boxing and wrestling which he plans to spring as a surprise on the audience.

DOEG TAKES SEABRIGHT MATCH

Mrs. Van Ryn Bows in Lone Upset as Tourney Opens.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 25 (U.P.).—Favorites won in the men's division today, but an upset occurred in the woman's section as the forty-seventh annual invitation tournament began at the Seabright Lawn Tennis Club.

Heading the list of first-round men's winners were two former stars, who hold legs on the men's singles bowl, R. Norris Williams, of Philadelphia, and John Hope Doeg, of Rumson, N. J., who was playing his first tennis since last September.

Miss Mae Couvorst, of Wichita, Kans., ranked in America's second ten, provided the day's upset by defeating Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, No. 8 in the national rankings. The score was 4—6, 6—4, 6—3. The Midwest left-hander was in top form as she downed Mrs Van Ryn.

Doeg played fair tennis to reach the second round by beating an unknown, John Higgins, of Redbank, N. J., 6—3, 6—3, while Williams, a national champion years ago, was extended before eliminating Perry L. Kynaston, of New York, 7—5, 6—4.

Coen, "Striker," Present As Spectator.

Only one of the thirteen "striking" tennis stars, who withdrew from the tourney because the club refused to pay their expenses was present as a spectator. Wilbur F. Coen, jr., of Kansas City.

Among the other men's favorites who came through were Gregory S. Mangin, of Newark, N. J., who defeated Elbert Lewis, Los Angeles, 2—6, 6—1, 6—2; Manuel Alonso, of New York, formerly No. 2 national star, who defeated Hal Surface, Kansas City, 6—3, 6—1.

Two Pacific Coast youngsters, Lester Stoeffen, of Los Angeles, and Jack Tidball, of Hollywood, won as they pleased. The former turned back John Thomas, Atlantic Highlands, 6—0, 6—0, and Tidball downed Upshur Moorhead, of Rumson, 6—3, 6—3.

In the women's division Miss Helen Jacobs, the famous California star, was nearly the victim of an upset. She overdrove the lines and saw beautiful placements passing her at the net before she was able to win from Miss Virginia Rice, of Boston, 7—5, 7—5.

Walker Knocks Out Rugirello in Round

Outweighed 36 Pounds, He Stops Italian With Right to Chin.

Newark, July 25 (A.P.).—Mickey Walker, toy bulldog of the light-heavyweight division, knocked out Salvatore Ruggirello, New York Italian, in the first round of a scheduled ten-round bout tonight at Dreamland Park. Walker weighed only 169, compared to his opponent's 205½.

Seven inches smaller than his opponent, Walker disposed of the Italian without even mussing his hair, a right to the jaw ending the battle after one minute and ten seconds of fighting.

Only three real blows were landed, a couple of lefts to the body and then a short, paralyzing right. Ruggirello flattened out and had to be carried to his corner.

After the bout John Flood, administrator agent of the New Jersey boxing commission, ruled that purses of both fighters would be held up pending an investigation. Later Flood announced that Walker would receive his share, as he seemed to have done his best.

Sylvan Bass, 156, Baltimore, knocked out Scotty McDade, 157, Harrison, N. J., in the first round of the semi-final. Jack Portney, 142½, Baltimore, knocked out Billy Andrews, 142¼, New York, in the second round.

SHORE LOSES IN PARKS UPSET

Seeded Player Bows to Dick Mason by 8—6 and 6—4.

ONE upset and two near upsets featured play yesterday in the annual District Public Parks tennis tournament. The big surprise was unfolded when Dick Mason took the measure of Frank Shore in straight sets by a score of 8—6 and 6—4. Welsh was near defeat at the hands of Trigg before he rallied to take his match by a 1—6, 6—4, 6—4 margin, while the favored doubles team of Deck and Herman barely managed to survive at the expense of Seidel and Edwards. The scores were 6—3, 10—12 and 7—5.

Seidel and Edwards, after dropping the overtime set, came back to lead their opponents, 5—3, in the deciding set, but Deck and Herman rallied to win for straight games and the match.

Mitchell Advances in Straight Sets.

Dooly Mitchell, seeded No. 1, was given quite a workout before he defeated Heiskell, 6—3, 6—3. Gilbert Hunt and Herman also advanced in singles. Shore and Latona teamed to defeat Markey and Quinn, 6—2, 4—6, 6—2.

The schedule for today will be confined to men's and women's doubles. Yesterday's results and today's pairings follow:

MEN'S SINGLES — Mitchell defeated Heiskell, 6—3, 6—3; O'Neill defeated Buchanon, 6—1, 6—2; Mason defeated Shore, 8—6, 6—4; Welsh defeated Trigg, 1—6, 6—4, 6—4; Markey defeated Phillips, 6—1, 6—1; Hunt defeated Deck, 6—4, 7—5; Herman defeated Seidel, 6—3, 6—4.

MEN'S DOUBLES—Deck and Hermand defeated Seidel and Edwards, 6—3, 10—12, 7—5; Shore and Latona defeated Markey and Quinn, 6—2, 6—4.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.

MEN'S DOUBLES—3 o'clock, Hunt and Mason vs. Deck and Herman; 5 o'clock, Stanbly and Sendel vs. Mitchell and Buchanon.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES—5 o'clock, Totten and Colliday vs. Johnson and Morris; Marthen and Walker vs. Dickinson and Kronman.

Alexandria Legion Nine Reaches State Finals

Alexandria, Va., July 25.—The local American Legion nine defeated Fredericksburg's representatives here today in the American Legion's junior baseball State semifinal by a 24-1 score. Jack Lewis held the down-State boys safe through while Teah led the murderous attack of the local nine. Alexandria's boys will play in the State finals here on August 26.

U. S. Netmen Rest For Test in Paris

Davis Cup Youth Cautioned to Watch Diet as Match Nears.

Paris, France, July 25 (A.P.).—America's Davis Cup youngsters—Ellsworth Vines, Frank Shields, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn—laid aside their racquets today until Wednesday to guard against staleness for the big week-end battle with France for the historic tennis trophy.

Vines appeared fully recovered from the slight indisposition that made his play slightly erratic against Gottfried von Cramm, the German, he defeated yesterday to clinch the United States' right to a place in the challenge round.

All the players promised they would take proper care of their stomachs, and evade the troublesome possibilities Vines risked when he treated himself to a variety of clashing foods with a resulting loss of sleep the night before he played Von Cramm.

The French press warned Vines that "little causes have great effects" and advised him not to eat cucumbers and pork before he takes the court against Henri Cochet.

Macks' Rally In 9th Beats Yanks, 8-7

Haas' Homer Against Gomez With 1 on Rescues Game.

Yankee Ace Pitches to Only 2 Batters; Cramer Hurt.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 (A.P.).—Vernon Gomez pitched to only two batters today, but lost his fifth game of the season and his first to the Athletics when Mule Haas drove out a home run with Bishop on base in the ninth, to give the American League champions an 8-to-7 victory over the Yankees.

Gomez, who defeated the Athletics at the Yankee Stadium yesterday, entered the game in the ninth with the tying run on base and Max Bishop at bat. He forced Bishop to hit into a force play and then faced Haas, who had replaced Roger Cramer when the latter broke his left collarbone chasing a fly in the sixth inning.

Haas' circuit blow broke up a nip-and-tuck ball game in which Mahaffey outlasted the Yankee hurlers—Pennock, Brown, Allen and Gomez.

Mahaffey Hits Homer, Giving A's Lead.

In addition to striking out seven Yankees, Mahaffey hit a home run in the sixth to give the A's a temporary lead. The lead lasted only until the eighth, when Babe Ruth, pinch-hitting for Chapman, connected with a single, scoring two runs. Gehrig followed with his twenty-fourth home run of the season to put the Yanks out in front by three runs.

The Athletics cut the Yanks' advantage to one run in the last half of the eighth when Allen and Brown loaded the bases with three successive passes. An infield out and a line drive sent two runs across the plate. Two more walks again filled the bases, but Dykes fanned for the third out. Allen also put the tying run on base in the ninth with a base on balls.

Mrs. Moody Ponders Return for U. S. Play

Paris, July 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody said today she still was undecided whether she will return to the United States to defend her national women's tennis title this summer or accompany her husband, Frederick Moody, on a tour of Europe.

It previously was reported that Queen Helen had cabled her decision to the United States Lawn Tennis Association, but her statement to the Associated Press today left the situation in doubt.

Mrs. Moody is suffering with a slight cold.

Duck Hunting Season To Open November 16

The waterfowl hunting season in Maryland and Virginia will extend over a period of two months, opening November 16 and closing January 15, under provisions of new regulations governing the sport recently approved by President Hoover. Several important changes in the regulations were made. The duck bag limit remains at fifteen, except that to conserve certain species the bag shall contain not more than ten in the aggregate of canvasbacks, redheads, scaup and lesser scaups (bluebills). Ringnecks, bluewing, greenwing, cinnamon teal, gadwalls and shovellers, and not more than five eider ducks. A scarcity of ruddy ducks and bufflehead has led game authorities to issue an order prohibiting the shooting of them.

The limit on live goose decoys was removed and that on live duck decoys placed at 25. The noon hour opening for waterfowl which prevailed last year has been continued.

4,000 WATCH NOCTURNAL BASEBALL

Pilots Lose, 5-1, in First Night Game Played Here.

ALTHOUGH the Washington Pilots of the East-West Colored League went down to defeat last night at Griffith Stadium under Klieg lights in the first nocturnal baseball game the Nation's Capital has witnessed, a crowd of more than 4,000 enjoyed the pastime somewhat better than in the heat of day, especially a bleacher aggregation of more than 1,000 who welcomed absence of the sun.

The final score, 5-1, hardly indicates the closeness of the play, as the game proved a pitcher's duel between Bell and Matlock, after McDonald, the Pilot's acting manager, had chased himself from the mound in the second inning.

Every play was visible from all parts of the field, including Dixon's homer to deep center in the seventh when Matlock weakened momentarily, and Russell's three-bagger in the fourth which should have gone for a single, except for a sharp bound to the right past Johnson, who had otherwise fielded it perfectly.

"Mule" Suttles, Pilot's home-run king, could do nothing with Bell's slants, striking out in the fourth and eighth innings, and responding in the seventh with a drive that all but backed Page up against the wall in the clubhouse corner. Bell also had Hampton's number, striking him out in the seventh.

Evans, who played his usual heady game, brought in the Pilot's single tally. He hit to right field, stole second and third, and came home while Hughes, whom Bell had walked, was being run down between first and second.

The Pilots, who, unfortunately, have lost their games before large crowds on the home grounds throughout the season, will meet the Crawfords again Wednesday and Friday nights and will endeavor to wipe out last night's defeat and win the three-game series. They play a double-header at the Stadium Saturday with the Homestead Grays, whom they also meet again on Sunday afternoon.

Rain in Fifth Cheats Tigers of Triumph

St. Louis, July 25 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers were leading the St. Louis Brown, 10 to 4, with two out in the first half of the fifth when rain caused the postponement of the first game of today's double-header. The second game also was called off. The Tigers scored six of their runs in the fifth.

20 Horse, Dog Tracks Get Florida Race O. K.

Tallahassee, Fla., July 25 (A.P.).—The Florida Racing Commission today granted State permits to six new horse tracks and fourteen new dog tracks to operate during the coming winter.

Three horse tracks and six dog tracks were operated in Florida last winter and their licenses are still in effect.

Horse race permits were issued to the Broward Amusement Co., in Broward County; the National Horsemen's Home, Inc., and the Sunshine Kennel Club, Inc., in Pinellas County. East Tampa Shores, Inc., the Tampa Racing Association, Inc., and the Tampa Shores Jockey Club, Inc., in Hillsborough County.

Catcher, Ill, Sent Back To Capital

Brown or Weaver to Face St. Louis in Opening Game.

Johnson May Place Eddie Ainsmith on Active List.

Special to The Washington Post.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 25.—After taking an 8-to-1 beating from the last-place Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game today, Manager Walter Johnson and his Washington Ball Club left here tonight for St. Louis, where they are scheduled to open their second Western invasion tomorrow. Sixteen contests will be played on the trip, four each in St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland in the order named.

When the Washington Club entrained tonight, Catcher Roy Spencer was not one of the group. Previously in the day he had been ordered back to Washington to recuperate from a newly acquired cold and an injured right knee, which has been keeping him inactive for the past two weeks.

The departure of Spencer leaves Manager Johnson with only Moe Berg and Howard Maple available as catchers, and he intimated tonight that he would have Eddie Ainsmith's status changed from a coach to a player to fortify the team in the backstop department.

Berg Handling Job In Good Style.

Berg has been handling the backstopping duties in clever fashion since Spencer was injured, and Johnson is not worrying particularly over being short-handed in the department. Coach Pat Gharrity may also be reinstated as a player, but he has been inactive as a catcher longer than Ainsmith, who played in the Southern League only three years ago.

Bernie Frey pitched the Reds to victory over the Nats today, scattering the 10 safeties he permitted, while Bob Burke and Rookie Bob Edelin proved no puzzle to the National Leaguers.

Manager Johnson was counting on Lloyd Brown to take the mound assignment against the Browns tomorrow, but the left-hander has complained that a thumb, which he injured against the Mackmen in Washington Saturday, is not entirely normal and, if it is no better overnight, indications are that Monte Weaver will get the call.

Killefer Lacks Pitchers.

There is no telling what pitcher Bill Killefer will trot out against the Nats tomorrow, as he used all of his first-stringers against the Tigers in double-headers Saturday and Sunday and in an abbreviated fracas there this afternoon.

On the Washington club's last visit to St. Louis, its two sparkplugs, Joe Cronin and Heine Manush, were idling because of injuries, its mound staff was wobbly and its morale was anything but good; hence, only one victory in four starts against the Browns.

Conditions are quite different this trip, and the Nationals will not be satisfied with anything less than three triumphs in the four starts. Although Spencer and Reynolds two regulars, are missing, they have been out so long that their mates have become used to their absence, while it also might be mentioned that their substitutes have been performing just about as well as the regulars.

Hanley, Ex-Notre Dame Grid Star, in Hospital

Chicago, July 25 (A.P.).—Dan Hanley, former Notre Dame football star, was taken to the Mercy Hospital today suffering from a simple fracture of the skull and a slight concussion of the brain.

Reports differed as to the cause of his injuries. One was that he was felled by an unidentified assailant and the other that he was the victim of an automobile accident. Dr. J. E. Kelly, who took an X-ray of his head, said Hanley had been in an automobile accident on the South Side outer drive.

Hanley was rated as one of Notre Dame's greatest full back finds, but injuries forced him out of the game in 1930.

MISS BUNTING WINS ARLINGTON FUTURITY TRIAL IN UPSET

Marsch Filly Is Victor In Duel

Miss Brilliant Runs Second; Gloritone, Favorite, Third.

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 25 (A.P.).—Jockey T. P. Martin, Arlington Park's favorite long-shot rider, piloted John Marsch's Miss Bunting to victory today in the $5,050 Lake Ville Purse, a test for eligibles for the $60,000 Futurity Saturday.

The race, a five-furlong affair, was a battle from start to finish between Miss Bunting and Miss Brilliant, with the Chicago-owned 2-year-old getting home three-quarters of a length to the good. Gloritone, the favorite, got up in time to grab third money from Liandaff.

The distance was run in 1:05, and Miss Bunting paid $8.20 to win. The victory was worth $3,380 to Owner Marsch.

Haufel Starts Comeback With Triumph.

Latonia, Ky., July 25 (A.P.).—Restored to good standing by the State racing commission Saturday, the veteran Jockey Jake Haupel, for years a stormy petrel on the Western turf, made an auspicious return to the saddle this afternoon when he booted home Max Hirsch's At Top in the North Bend Purse. Willie Pool, reinstated at the same time, narrowly missed a similar distinction when he finished second on Tea Tax in the opening dash.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

Both horses won for Asbestos yesterday and the bank roll went up $7.08, making the total $58.44. The results on Joe's horses will be announced tomorrow. Today's code, Empire, 1, 26, 4, 7, 10, 24. Devonshire 20, 3, 11, 11, 2, 6.

Today, Asbestos bets $1 across the board on Kinnear at Thistledown.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: ARLINGTON PARK, CHICAGO, JULY 25.

I felt like buying an American flag and singing the "Star-Spangled Banner" on the way back from the track today. All because Little America saved me from a shutout by stepping down in the third race. I had them in the money at good prices but they don't count. Going to try to change my luck tonight and get a brand new grip on the winners.

If your money must wander, try these at the other tracks: Contribute, Bagsmasher, Sandwrack, Depression, Lionhearted, Irene T.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—Your guess here is as good as mine, which is FLIRTING. Like the looks of this juvenile. MINTOGEE for second, but this one may not get in. LUCILLE K. for the show end.

SECOND RACE—LADRONE can win this heat and I believe KNEE HIGH, again lightly weighted, to be the one to cause most of the contention. BRIGHT BEAUTY, at tops, may carry off the third money.

THIRD RACE — SCREECH and WARY give Mrs. John Hay Whitney a strong hand in this test for fillies. TIMOROUS seems to be ready to place ahead of TABAKU.

FOURTH RACE—UNENCUMBERED'S last was what the doctor ordered and a repeat of that will be hard to beat in this field. WATCH HIM is a dangerous one. TROMBONE for the lesser award.

FIFTH RACE—Climb aboard LADDER and get yourself a hat full. That's my choice in this sprint. SATIN SPAR and SUN DOT for what is left.

SIXTH RACE—I shall not try to beat EVERGOLD in this. Made the best of them step and scored impressively recently. SPRINGSTEEL to chase the top one again. DARK HOPE may be the third horse.

SEVENTH RACE—LASALLE seems to have the edge here. HARAMZADA will be ready to make the top fellow hustle. OUTCRY for third.

EIGHTH RACE—SUITOR may repeat that recent winning performance and pay off in this. ENGLEWOOD for second ahead of PIGEON HOLE.

COL. HEIGHTS LOSS ADDS INTEREST

Close Finish Seen in Section B, Capital City League.

ST. JOSEPH'S victory over the previously undefeated Columbia Heights nine in section B, unlimited division of the Capital City League, paves the way for a thrilling finish. The Heightsmen need only to win one of the two remaining games on their schedule to clinch the sectional honors, but their opponents in these games will be the two teams retaining a chance of tying for the title, Federal Storage and Rock Creek Servicenter.

The Federal Storage prospects are the brighter of the two. Sunday it meets the leaders and a week later it tackles the Franc Jewelers. If it can get over the Columbia obstacle it is safe to predict that the team will down the Jewelers.

"Snitz" Nau's Servicenter crew must first meet the rejuvenated St. Joseph's outfit before its game with the occupants of first place. Rock Creek trimmed the Plaza nine in their first meeting but, with the latter showing no signs of letting up since it has struck its true stride, the second game is certain to be a bitter battle.

Manager Charley Edwards, of Columbia Heights, believes that his team will come through the next two games to win the flag. His charges have traveled at a dizzy pace all season and the majority of fans have expected them to slow up a bit. The team's loss Sunday was a good thing, Edwards stated. It will spur the men on to greater efforts in the last stages of the race.

Women's Golf Won By Mrs. Quinters

Mrs. Medley Takes Low Net With 79; League Golfers Honored.

Playing the difficult Chevy Chase course in 92, Mrs. Hubbert Quinters, of the Columbia Country Club, yesterday won the eighteen-hole medal play tournament for members of the Women's District Golf Association. Mrs. C. P. Medley, of the Kenwood Club, won the low net prize with a score of 79. The tournament preceded the presentation of the trophies to the winning teams in the interclub league.

Scores recorded yesterday were unusually high despite ideal weather conditions. Other prize winners in low net competition were Mrs. H. A. Knox, 80; Mrs. Howard Simons, 80; Mrs. Teal, 83; Mrs. Pray, 83; Mrs. Alma Von Steiner, 84; Mrs. J. S. Gross, 84; Mrs. J. O. Rhyne, 84; Mrs. J. R. des Sarges, 84; Mrs. J. A. Marr, 85; Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, 85; Mrs. R. C. Dunbar, 86.

Following the tournament, Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, president of the association, presented trophies to the winning teams in the two divisions of the league. Mrs. Beller, captain of the Columbia Country Club aggregation, accepted the cup for her club, which won the honors in the first division, and Mrs. Max B. Garber accepted the trophy for the Army and Navy Club Team, winner in the second division.

A brief business meeting of the executive committee of the association followed the presentations.

DEPARTMENTAL LEAGUE.

Les Singman's single in the ninth inning, scoring Eddie Colliflower, enabled Bureau of Investigation to eke out a 6-5 victory over G. P. O. in the south section of the Departmental League yesterday. Commerce enjoyed a field day at the expense of D. C. Repair Shop in the north section, winning by a score of 16-5.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE third of a series of four Toscanini Fund concerts, broadcast from the Great Hall of the College of the City of New York, will be conducted this afternoon by Jaffrey Dunn, former director of the British National Opera Company. Edward Weiss, American-born pianist, will be guest soloist during the performance.

The program (WMAL, 2:30 o'clock) includes:

Overture to "Marriage of Figaro" (Mozart); Symphony No. 2, in D (Beethoven); Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, in E Flat (Liszt), Edward Weiss; Carnival Overture (Dvorsk); Prelude from "L'Apres midi d'un Faune" (Debussy), and Irish Rhapsody (Herbert).

MARKING another step upward in the progress of a Washingtonian will be the opening Wednesday night in New York of the new radio studios and offices of Meyer Davis. These studios are for the purpose of auditions and rehearsals for broadcast productions and indicate that Mr. Davis now proposes to go into radio in a big way. The radio angle of the business is being developed by Uriel Davis, Meyer's brother, also a Washington boy.

The new studios are located in a penthouse at 18 East Forty-eighth street.

The most rehearsed program on the air is said to be the authentic police drama heard on the Tuesday night Lucky Strike Hour (WRC, 9 o'clock). Each drama runs approximately twenty minutes but goes through more than thirty hours rehearsal before the broadcast. Tonight's dramatization is titled "The Fighting Jeweler."

An all-request song fest, made up entirely of songs that were popular in the early days of the present century, will be presented by Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit during the program at 7 o'clock over WRC.

ANDY SANNELLA has abandoned radio for the time being to play on a Hudson River steamer, where romantic moonlight parties are in vogue. He says that his love for ships and cruising which he cultivated in the Navy during the World War, is more irresistible than his love for broadcasting.

Cliff Edwards, known to movie and theater audiences as "Ukelele Ike," has been signed by Columbia and will make his first regular appearance over WMAL at 6 o'clock tonight.

"ALL ABOARD!" sounds so natural in the imaginary starting of the train over WRC at 6 o'clock each evening that listeners have wondered if a real train dispatcher does it. As a matter of fact, several announcers take a hand at it.

A perfect performance is always given by Arthur Godfrey, WRC announcer, who, as a boy, was a train caller in the Jersey City terminal.

Art Jarrett, former Columbia star, will make his first appearance on the N. B. C.-WRC network tonight.

Stocks Exceed June Highs In Broad, Active Markets

Composite List Averages 2.3 Points Recovery in Eager Trading.

New York, July 25 (A.P.).—The stock market shoved through its early June highs in relatively active trading today.

Speculators for the advance were assisted by brisk short covering in a number of shares, notably United States Steel preferred, which jumped 5¼ points on gossip that the regular quarterly dividend would be declared at tomorrow's board meeting and reports that the company's second quarter financial statement might make a better showing than had been anticipated.

Generally speaking, stocks enjoyed a broad market. Oils were conspicuously strong, but industrials, rails and utilities moved forward in a manner that bespoke speculative optimism.

The Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite closed 2.3 points higher, at 43.6, the best level since mid-May. Thus the market was at last able to better June's peak of 40.6. Transactions totaled 1,545,966, the largest volume since June 2.

There was no official hint as to what the Steel Corporation planned to do with its preferred dividend, but traders still short of the stock took in sail against ordering of the usual payment.

Steel common rose 1½, while Bethlehem common and preferred gained 1¼ and 3½, respectively. American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Eastman, National Biscuit, Consolidated Gas, Liggett & Myers "B," American Tobacco "B," Safeway Stores, Woolworth, U. S. Tobacco, Auburn and Santa Fe made average advances of 2 points. Union Pacific, which is comfortably covering fixed charges in these days of railroad deficits, was up 2½.

In the oils, gains ranged from a fraction to 3 points, the maximum rise appearing in Shell Union preferred. Phillips Petroleum, which turned decisively from red ink to black in the second quarter, was active and firm, while Texas, Consolidated and the Standards developed considerable vigor.

Bid-asked quotations for railroad stock started at 19-30, being gradually adjusted to an actual sale at 21, up 3½ points.

The time money market relapsed to quotations of 1 to 1¼ per cent for all maturities, the lowest rates in 40 years. These extremely low returns, while reflecting absence of demand, appeared to be taken as evidence of abundant supplies. Normally, business revival would be signalled by rising rates, although at present Federal Reserve operations for cheap credit, bankers point out, will probably serve to keep down borrowing costs.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Mon.	Sat.
Number of advances...	458	154
Number of declines....	66	135
Stocks unchanged.....	97	127
Total issues traded...	621	416

Stocks.

Market exceeded high prices attained early in June. Optimism and short covering inspired general advance. Net rise was 2.3 points.

Bonds.

Rail and oil loans gave a semblance of buoyancy in the climb to higher levels. An average gain of ½ point was recorded.

Curb.

Buying movement sent prices on a brisk upswing. Oils and utilities led the recovery in a 150,000-share turnover.

Wheat.

Drop in values followed an advance early in the session. Governmental efforts to close or curtail exchanges were blamed for the market's reaction.

Cotton.

A late rally cut cotton losses to a few points. The firmer tone in share markets strengthened bale prices. Liverpool hedged.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Oil shares and gilt-edged securities were bright and active features on the stock exchange. The former improved on reports of an agreement at the Paris oil conference and the latter on investment buying. Other sections were fearful in sympathy with these features. Prices declined a bit from the best in the afternoon on profit taking. The closing was steady.

Paris—The favorable outcome of the oil conference and the good dispositions of foreign markets bolstered prices on the bourse. Gains were slight but steady in all sections.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse were cheerful, encouraged by the relatively quiet week-end.

$7,889,100 EARNED BY GENERAL FOODS

Net Is Equal to $1.50 Dividend Per Share, Compared With $1.93 Formerly.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The report of General Foods Corporation for the first six months, made public yesterday, shows net profits after provision for income taxes of $7,889,100, equal to $1.50 a share on the 5,251,263 shares of no-par value common stock outstanding June 30. This compares with net profits of $10,167,458, or $1.93 a share on 5,256,350 shares, for the corresponding six months of 1931.

Net profits for the second quarter totaled $3,455,425. This is equal to 65 cents a share and compares with net profits of $4,595,059, or 87 cents a share for the second quarter of 1931. Profits before taxes for the quarter totaled $4,111,283, against $5,244,093 for the corresponding three months last year.

The tempting values in new automobiles currently offered the consumer are apparently beginning to win him away from his previous program of making the old car "go," for automobile buying in June was the largest for any month since July, 1931, according to the regular monthly tabulation of consumer activities by the Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis with local offices.

At the same time the average consumer has bought more insurance than he did last month although insurance sales are considerably lower than a year ago.

The increasingly broad spread of ownership in basic industries, as indicated by the increase in number of stockholders, points directly to a newer and sounder economic structure in America, according to John Y. Robbins, president of Administrative and Research Corporation, New York.

Farm Board Sent Wheat Below $1, Expert Charges

Kansas City, July 25 (A.P.).—Wheat would now be selling for $1 a bushel, Frank A. Theis, former president of the Kansas City Board of Trade, told a House investigating committee today, if it were not for what he described as the Government's tampering with the normal disposal of surplus grain under the activities of the Farm Board.

Mr. Theis testified under oath, as will the other witnesses who appear before the committee in the three days allotted to the grain interests for their protest against the Federal Farm Board and the agricultural marketing act.

"Had the market normally been allowed to follow its course," Mr. Theis said, "wheat might have declined 20 cents or 30 cents a bushel, but we could have disposed of the surplus instead of accumulating the enormous supply of 329,000,000 bushels at one time. Had there been no Farm Board interference, wheat today would be selling at $1 a bushel."

Mr. Theis charged that the Farm Board had coerced its cooperatives in their deals and had squandered a vast sum of the taxpayers' money.

BOND ADVANCES LED BY RAIL AND OIL AID

Paris Petroleum Agreement Is Reflected in Market; Australians Higher.

New York, July 25 (A.P.).—Railroad and oil loans today gave the bond market a semblance of buoyancy as low-priced speculative issues again leaped forward to new high positions for the present move.

The day's activity was somewhat greater than usual, sales totaling $12,272,000, while the average for 60 corporate securities advanced one-half point.

The carriers continued to reflect the hope imbued by the recent Interstate Commerce Commission approval of an Eastern railway consolidation. The oils responded to the "understanding" reached in Paris between leading world petroleum interests and the reports of considerable improved domestic business.

Rail bonds that recorded gains of from 1 to 6 or more points included some issues of Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian National, Canadian Pacific, Central of Georgia, Central Pacific, Chesapeake Corporation, Burlington, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Erie, Great Northern, Hudson & Manhattan, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific.

CURB BUYING PUSHES PRICES ON UPSWING

Oils and Utilities Lead Brisk Advance in Turnover of 150,000 Shares.

New York, July 25 (A.P.).—The buying movement in the Stock Exchange had a backwash in the curb market today, where oils and utilities led a brisk advance in a turnover of 150,000 shares, the largest since June 3.

News developments of a character to influence the list were all but lacking, but with the improvement in sentiment of the past two weeks the market seemed to be carried only by its own momentum.

Oils were helped to a degree by the reported agreement in Paris on marketing policies by the British, Dutch, Roumanian and American representatives, and by the improvement in the position of the industry, as evidenced in the few second quarter and first half earnings statements thus far available.

Gulf and Humble rose 1¾ and 2¾ points, respectively, to within striking distance of their 1932 tops, and Indiana advanced more than a point to 21½, a new top for the year. The Cities Service issues were also pushed up. The common advanced ⅜ of a point to 2¾, and the preferred issues made wider gains.

GRAIN VALUES LOSE AFTER EARLY RALLY

Government Exchange Fight Blamed; Oats Touch New Bottom Low.

Chicago, July 25 (A.P.).—Notwithstanding that grain values temporarily advanced today despite a shock from efforts at Washington to stop board of trade operations, prices afterward fell.

Concentrated selling that many observers attributed to Government-financed agencies proved too heavy a weight to be resisted by speculative demand which had noticeably thinned out. Shrinkage of purchase orders was attributed largely to disturbance of usual market conditions as a result of threatened shut-down of the exchange here.

After a loss of about a cent a bushel, wheat closed unsettled, ¼ to ⅜ under Saturday's finish; corn, ⅛ to ¾ down; oats, unchanged to ⅜ off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Scattered showers both in the American and Canadian Northwest were a late bearish factor, together with 3,787,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply. Earlier the market was responsive to reports of dry weather in spring crop territory and to 3,176,000 bushels decrease of the amount of wheat on ocean passage. There were also estimates that wheat production in the Danube Basin this season would be 100,000,000 bushels less than last year.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Oats touched a new bottom price record for the season.

Provisions ruled irregular, lard easier, meats firmer.

Richmond Tobacco Plant And Rayon Mill Prosper

Richmond, Va., July 25 (A.P.).—A 100 per cent increase in the pay roll of the Export Leaf Tobacco Co. and resumption of operations of the du Pont rayon plant at Ampthill today put back to work nearly 1,000 workers who had been unemployed for many weeks.

Doubling its local pay roll, the Export Leaf Tobacco Co. added 275 tobacco workers to its plant, running its total of employes to more than 500.

Between 600 and 700 employes of the du Pont rayon plant, who have been out of work for six or seven weeks, due to a shutdown of the plant, were returned to their jobs today, the general offices announced.

COTTON PRICES DROP UNDER SALES DRIVE

Octobers Cut Early Lost; Closing at 5.71; Liverpool in Hedge Trading.

New York, July 25 (A.P.).—Cotton declined 8 to 10 points early today under renewed selling by the same interests which were conspicuous on the selling side last week, but regained most of the loss before the close.

From a low of 5.64 the October position rallied to 5.71, closing at that level or 3 points net lower, while the general market closed steady at 1 to 3 points net decline.

The market opened at 4 to 8 points decline in response to the heavy tone in Liverpool and on a generally favorable view of the crop weather conditions over Sunday.

Brokers with cooperative connections were again sellers but when their offers fell off toward the close, the market rallied easily. The trade demand while not aggressive, seemed to be quite continuous, suggesting that some mills at least were inclined to fix prices, possibly reflecting a more confident view in the textile trade.

The firmer tone in the stock market proved a sustaining factor during the late afternoon session and the stability of the market in the face of some rather disturbing factors in the way of crop advices and uncertainty relative to the disposition of the surplus stocks, came in for a good deal of favorable comment.

Liverpool cabled the market influenced by hedge selling and continental selling and reported a moderate home and export demand for cloths.

LOREE GETS CREDIT FOR D.&H. STRENGTH

Executive's Trading Acumen Gave Road Independence, Associates Say.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—It was recalled by associates of Leonor F. Loree that the road's independence and soundness lies in the trading acumen of its president.

In 1927, sensing that Pennsylvania wanted control of Lehigh Valley and the Wabash, Mr. Loree started accumulating common and preferred "A" shares of the Wabash and a sizeable chunk of the capital stock of the Lehigh Valley.

In the spring of 1928 he had picked up blocks of the securities at a cost of $40,340,000. In April of 1928, Pennsylvania came to him with an offer to purchase. The deal was closed, Loree receiving $63,000,000 for his holdings, giving the Delaware & Hudson a profit of about $23,000,000.

The $63,000,000 sum was invested and, while the value of the securities purchased has shrunk about 30 per cent, or from $56,000,000 to $39,500,000 at the end of 1931, the paper loss has been slight compared with the drop in values represented by the Lehigh Valley and Wabash certificates sold to the Pennsylvania. The Wabash has since gone into receivership and Pennsylvania's holdings of the preferred "A" and common shares of that road, costing originally about $68,000,000, have shrunk in value to something under $1,000,000—based on current market prices of $1.50 for the preferred and $1.25 for the common shares.

Visible Grain Supply.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—The visible supply of American grains shows the following changes in bushels: Wheat increased 3,787,000; corn decreased 1,799,000; oats increased 698,000; rye decreased 198,000; barley decreased 54,000.

POLICE HUNT WOMAN IN DEATH OF CHINESE

Revolver Found Near Body of Laundryman; Cash Drawer Empty.

A white woman, said to be a friend of Lee Lin, 35, Chinese laundryman, who was found dead yesterday from a bullet wound in a laundry at 809 Twelfth street northeast, is being sought by police for questioning. The body of Lin, shot in the abdomen, was discovered by a cousin.

The position of Lin's body, found lying in a bunk, the course of the bullet and the odor of burnt powder noticeable on Lin's right hand indicated suicide, instead of murder, according to Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

Police are seeking to determine ownership of a .38 caliber revolver, found beside the bunk. Disorder noticed in the room and the fact that a cash drawer usually kept in the laundry was found empty in the rear room lent evidence the laundryman may have been shot by robbers.

Lin's body was found by a cousin, Lee Thick Kee, 26, who said the front door of the establishment was unlocked when he entered. He said Lin had been ill for the last two weeks.

The gun and the bullet, which traveled through the bunk and a telephone book underneath, will be examined by Lieut. John Fowler, police ballistics expert.

Bus permits are now being written for the companies. Hearings on the matter were held last week. It was not indicated yesterday whether interstate buses will be allowed to use the new highway.

Man Arrested in Raid Called Escaped Prisoner

Roy H. Diggs, who was arrested in a raid Sunday in a house on Jones Bridge road in North Chevy Chase, was yesterday identified as having escaped from a Montgomery County policeman several weeks ago and charged with exceeding 60 miles per hour.

Diggs, who lives at 1114 Sixth street northwest, was one of sixteen persons arrested in a raid on the home of James Butler, at 29 Jones Bridge road. Butler was held in bond of $500 on the charge of possessing liquor with intent to sell. Policeman W. F. Soper identified Diggs as being the man who not only broke the 60-mile mark, but abandoned his car after it had struck a pole near Chevy Chase Lake two weeks ago. The other occupants of the house were charged with disorderly conduct.

THOUSANDS WITNESS BIG CARNIVAL MARCH

Holy Comforter Church Gets Its Festival Off to Firm Start in East Side.

The bicentennial carnival of the Holy Comforter Church got off to a flying start last night after the largest parade in the history of East Washington, made up of 75 floats and a number of bands, brought out a crowd of several thousand.

The carnival, on the school lawn of the parish at Fifteenth and East Capitol streets, was in full swing by 8 p. m. with a ferris wheel and midway booths as the chief attractions. Twenty-two young women had entered a popularity contest last night. The contest is open to any young women resident of the District.

Following the guard of honor and police escort in the parade were Dr. George E. Havenner, executive chairman of the District Bicentennial Commission; the Rev. James E Connell, pastor of the Holy Comforter Church; the Rev. Edward J. A. Nestor, assistant pastor; Lieut. Col. William E. Peak, superintendent of the District Jail, marshal of the parade; Cornelius Ford, chairman of the automobile committee, and Joseph L. Gammell, president of the Lincoln Park Citizens Association, and general chairman of the carnival.

Three hundred children and 100 young women in colonial costumes were in the line of march. Bands included the Holy Comforter, the National Training School, the Elks Boys, the Wheeler Club and the Firemen's Fife and Bugle Corps. A great many of the floats were entered by business concerns. The carnival will continue for two weeks.

Rabbi of Palestine Lectures Tonight

Dr. Moses Romm to Tell of European Persecution of Compatriots.

Rabbi Moses Romm and his 13-year-old son, Ittamar, will appeal to the congregation of the Ohev Sholom Synagogue, at Fifth and I streets northwest, at 8 o'clock tonight to raise funds for the aid of over 200 rabbis who sought refuge in Palestine from religious persecution in sections of Europe.

A prominent attorney in the United States prior to his entry in the rabbinate, Dr. Romm has been a religious leader in this country for eighteen years. During the Arab uprisings in Palestine, he settled there at the request of his son, who thought that it was the duty of Jewish American youth to uphold the traditions of freedom there.

Dr. Romm describes the conditions of the older members of the rabbinate who went to Palestine as a refuge, as deplorable. A plan by which aid will be sent and which will also provide a sinking fund for members of the world rabbinate who wish to spend their last days in the Holy Land has been advanced by Dr. Romm.

Phone Girl's Suit For Leave Delayed

Government Wants More Time to Draw Up Its Reply.

The fight of Alma O. Sarton, telephone operator at the Navy Yard, to have the District Supreme Court issue a mandamus compelling the navy yard to grant her leave accumulated before the act was passed—was postponed yesterday at the request of the Government.

Attorneys William E. Leahy and William J. Hughes, jr., who instituted the suit for Miss Sarton, agreed to a request by John J. Wilson, assistant United States attorney, to allow the Government until tomorrow to file its reply. Miss Sarton must take her leave before August 1, when her year is up. If she does not get a decision before that time, the leave will automatically be wiped out.

If that should happen, a new suit will be filed.

His Wife Sick, Police Search Again for Man

A police lookout issued nine months ago for a missing man was renewed last night as the wife of the man became ill and asked aid in locating her husband.

Clarence H. Osterman, 45 years old, disappeared last October 23 from his home at 917 L street northwest. He went to work at the Ambassador Garage, worked for an hour, drew his pay and left. A lookout was issued for him at the time and another was gotten out November 10, but nothing has been heard from him. His wife, Mrs. Emma E. Osterman, lives at 522 First street southeast.

Capital Girl Held As Amnesia Victim

Found Wandering in Philadelphia, She Is Unable to Recall Identity.

Philadelphia physicians are attempting to stimulate the memory of a young woman, believed to be from Washington, who was found wandering near a Washington bus terminal in Philadelphia yesterday. She was unable to tell her name or her destination but remembered getting aboard the bus in the Capital. She said her "brain snapped" while she was on the bus.

Police took the young woman to Hahnemann Hospital and detectives questioned her, but she could not aid them in establishing her identity. She said she was not ill, but was "very tired and sleepy."

She wore a blue dress, white panama hat, and white shoes and gloves. In her handbag were found $1.05 in cash, a wedding ring, which bore no initials, a fountain pen and a compact.

Substantial Airport Turf Is Goal Here

U. S. Agriculture Agents Will Experiment at Washington Field.

In an effort to produce a turf suitable for use on airports, the Department of Agriculture will begin preliminary experiments next fall at Washington-Hoover Airport.

Suitable covering for an aviation field has baffled authorities for many years. Various substances have been used but none has proved entirely successful.

C. R. Enlow, of the division of forage crops of the Department of Agriculture, explained plans for the work yesterday, saying, "We have no expectation of success on the heavily used portions of the field and will make no effort to plant them."

CONSTRUCTION LIFT FALLS, INJURING 3

Spliced Cable Parts Causing Five-Story Drop at Gospel Mission.

A spliced cable which parted caused a construction lift to fall five stories yesterday, injuring three men at work on the new Gospel Mission at 810 Fifth street northwest.

Those injured were Norman Patterson, 18, 406 H street northwest, who suffered a possible fracture of the spine; Brook Pierson, colored, 914 Westminster street northwest, whose back, shoulder and leg were slightly injured, and Adam Horn, colored, 30, 139 D street northeast, who escaped serious injuries by swinging off the lift as it passed the third floor.

The elevator had two concrete containers as well as the three passengers as a load when the cable parted, C. M. Dutcher, who was running the engine which operates the lift, said that the drop was caused by the stalling of the gasoline motor which controls the elevator. This caused the lift to fall, and when he applied the brake the strain caused the spliced cable to part.

The District building inspector said that he had no jurisdiction over elevators used to hoist materials. The injured men were taken to Emergency Hospital by the Fire Rescue Squad.

GAS RATE REDUCTION CONFERENCE IS HELD

Company Will Decide Today on Percentage Proposal for Six Months.

Officials of the Washington Gas Light Co. and Arthur Dean, representing Chase, Harris & Forbes, of New York, conferred at length yesterday afternoon with the Public Utilities Commission regarding the latter's proposal for a percentage gas rate reduction for the next six months, but the gas company deferred its decision until today.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, said the plan was discussed from all angles as to the amount of the percentage, the effect of any reduction on the gas company's revenue, and the variation in cuts on the several classes of service. Gas company officials said they would have nothing to announce until today.

Indications are that the proposal of the commission will be accepted in lieu of the threatened public hearing demanded by People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech and the Federation of Citizens Associations, who contend that the gas company's net profit will approximate 10 per cent this year.

In announcing its intention of holding such a hearing, the commission offered the gas company an alternative of voluntarily reducing all gas bills on a percentage basis from August 1 until February 1, next year. The matter of percentage, it was said, could be determined at a subsequent conference.

The board of directors of the gas company failed to reach a decision at their regular meeting last week because of "insufficient data," according to Marcy Sperry, president. This data was furnished them yesterday. Besides Mr. Sperry and Mr. Dean, those who called on the commission were Corcoran Thom, a director, and Wilton J. Lambert, counsel.

Impersonating Police Alleged of 2 Youths

Two youths, arrested just over the District line, on Massachusetts avenue extended, were charged with disorderly conduct after they are said to have posed as Montgomery County policemen and ordered persons in parked cars to move on.

They gave their names as Bernard M. Finley, of 4466 Conduit road northwest, and William E. Burroughs, of 4448 Reservoir road northwest. Washington policemen from the Eighth Precinct arrested the pair after receiving complaints, but learned later the offenses had taken place in Maryland. They were then turned over to Maryland authorities and charged with being disorderly, as there is no Maryland law against impersonating an officer. They did not demand money from the occupants of the parked cars, police said.

Arraignment Off In Henry Slaying

Witnesses Go Directly Before Grand Jury; Report Due Monday.

To avoid a possible threat of intimidation to Government witnesses, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday called off the scheduled arraignment of Charles Harris and Henry Davis, alleged Philadelphia slayers of Milton W. (Milsie) Henry, Washington gambler.

Instead, Mr. Rover sent his witnesses directly before the grand jury, and that body will complete its report in time for its submission to Justice Oscar R. Luhring in District Supreme Court Monday.

Henry was murdered by two men who lay in ambush for him in front of his home in Brown street, just off Sixteenth street northwest. The murder bore unmistakable evidence of having been perpetrated by experts. A sawed-off shotgun was fired at Henry while he was in his roadster. Both suspects were arrested in Philadelphia.

P. U. C. WILL DECIDE PHONE PLEA FRIDAY

Company Warned of Early Time Limit in Which to Present Case.

Still another postponement delayed the telephone rate hearing yesterday when the Public Utilities Commission adjourned it upon completing its case until Friday morning. At that time the commission will rule on the motion of R. A. Van Orsdel, counsel of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., to reject most of the evidence on valuation and depreciation offered by William A. Roberts, special counsel of the utilities body.

While the telephone company had asked for 60 days in which to prepare its defense, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, virtually denied this request in a final warning that the company will be given but a limited time after the ruling Friday. As the evidence in question was offered in behalf of the commission, it is practically assured that it will be accepted.

The last commission witness was Edward Rainey, assistant cost engineer with the valuation bureau, who testified that previous evidence offered in reproduction costs with regard to labor was generous to the telephone company, as the scale of wages paid in Washington on non-Government buildings was 30 per cent below the standard set by the Bacon-Davis act.

Thomas R. Tate, valuation engineer, made another correction in his estimate as to the cost of reproducing the telephone company properties. The new figure is $22,975,880, which does not cover depreciation.

Hotel Annapolis Deal Being Closed

Six Bus Lines to Use New Terminal; Waiting Room on Ground Floor.

Successful termination within 48 hours of negotiations reported exclusively by The Washington Post on June 19, whereby the Scarr transportation interests acquire the Annapolis Hotel, at 1111 H street northwest, and operate a bus terminal in connection with it, was forecast yesterday in the announcement that Hotel Annapolis Bus Terminal, Inc., a Delaware corporation, of which F. J. Scarr is president, is buying the 11-story hotel.

Associated with Mr. Scarr, whose company operates the Dixie terminal in New York City, will be an interlocking directorate of officers of the Washington Annapolis Hotel Corporation, present owners, and the Annapolis Hotel Management Corporation.

It is stated that six bus lines will use the new terminal. Incorporation of the terminal features, to be carried out by the Charles H. Tompkins Co., of this city, provide for bus lanes at the rear of the building and conversion of a ground floor ballroom into a waiting room. The offices of Samuel S. Spruce and Lester A. Pratt have been identified with negotiations incidental to the transaction. The purchase price will not be made public.

Sale of First Book of New 3-Cent Stamps Is Feature of Session.

Sale of the first books of the new three-cent stamps featured the opening yesterday of the thirty-eighth convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans at the Hotel Mayflower.

Dr. N. P. McGay, of Cleveland, retiring president of the society, in opening the sale, was the first person in the United States to purchase one of the newly issued stamp booklets. The stamps were sold at a branch post office especially established at the hotel by the Postoffice Department. Michael L. Eidsness, superintendent of the division of stamps, United States Postoffice, made the first sale.

Collections, including some of the most valuable stamps in the world, brought to the convention by the more than 100 delegates, were on display at the convention headquarters last night. Many exhibits included stamps that have played a significant part in the world's history.

Coppock, jr., of Cincinnati, vice president; Frank L. Coes, of Worcester, Mass., secretary, and George T. Bush, of Bellefonte, Pa., treasurer.

Other officers will be appointed by the president at a directors' meeting. The new officers will be installed tomorrow morning. The delegates enjoyed a sightseeing tour yesterday. The convention will continue all this week.

Historic Oak Faces Fall Before Shovel

Daughters of Confederacy Intervene to Save Tree in Takoma Park.

After weathering the storms of a century a magnificent and historic giant oak is destined to fall before the grimest of iconoclasts, the steam shovel, unless friends are successful in their efforts to save it.

The oak is located on the right-of-way of the new Piney Branch boulevard in Takoma Park. It is on the property of Mrs. Jerome Hubbard, at 7140 Chestnut street. The tree has a spread of more than 100 feet, and was used as a signal post by Confederate soldiers in 1864 when they attacked the Capital.

A special meeting of the District division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy has been called for Thursday to discuss means of arousing sentiment in favor of the ancient landmark. Mrs. Fred Lewis Volland, the president, said. The American Tree Association is also interested in saving the tree.

$44,000 THEFT LAID TO NORMAN BOWLES

Warrant by Dean, Realty Man, Charges Larceny to Disbarred Attorney.

On complaint of Edward B. Dean, sr., wealthy real estate operator, Norman Bowles, disbarred attorney, yesterday was arraigned before United States Commissioner N. C. Turnage on a warrant charging him with larceny of $44,000 from Dean.

Bowles surrendered to Assistant Chief Deputy United States Marshal John J. Clarkson yesterday when he learned that he was wanted. Accompanied by a bondsman he went to the commissioner's and posted $25,000 bond for his release.

The case against Bowles was developed by Policeman Earl Hartman and Harry Britten, of the Metropolitan force. They were present when Bowles was arraigned, with Charles Murray, Assistant United States attorney, representing the Government.

The warrant charges Bowles with stealing the money on May 21, 1931. The case will be sent to the grand jury for investigation Thursday, at which time others, it was said, may be implicated.

Several months ago Dean filed suit against Bowles, Abner Siegel, who was later convicted of bribing a guard at the District Jail; Robert Lloyd, Edyna C. B. Lloyd and George Gormley for $151,500 which he alleged he had given them.
